Even Shank is undecided

Does city need Community Center?

BY JIM BAUMANN

EAST JORDAN - Does the city need to spend $70,000 for a Community Center?

This question has sparked considerable debate in East Jordan during the past month.

Even George Shank, the local chiropractor and former city councilman who circulated petitions to put the question to a referendum vote, says he's not totally opposed to the project. "If the people want it, I am with them," he said this week. "I am only opposed to the way it was handled by the city council."

There were only four of seven council members present when the council held its annual budget hearing April 24, and later voted to approve the budget. That budget had $70,000 allocated for renovating the rear of the downtown Community Building, which has stood half-finished since the 1930's.

"The only reason for having a public hearing is to get input," Shank said of the council's budget hearing. "Why have a public hearing if you've already made up your mind?"

Shank conceded that the Community Center had been publicized in newspaper stories several weeks before the budget hearing, but he said the issue had never really been discussed at a council meeting until the April budget hearing when it was approved. "Those stories said 'maybe' and 'proposed,'" Shank said.

"It was like it came out of the closet and all of a sudden it was approved."

"If a majority of the people want it, then they should have it," he said. "But not if just four people want it -- and I don't think those four listened."

Council member Harry Watson said last week he thought voters would probably vote down the project if it comes to a vote. But Mayor Jim Meredith said this week he thinks it would pass.

"I talked to a lot of people who signed the petitions, and they were under the impression they had to sign if they wanted the Community Center," he said. "They didn't know the council had already budgeted for it."

Some critics of the Community Center proposal question its location and access. Since the front of the building has been leased on a long-term basis for use as a senior citizen center, the only way to get into the Community Center will be via the alley at the rear of the building.

"The only difference between an alley and a street is what you call it," said councilman Watson.

"I'm looking down the road a few years," Mayor Meredith said. "The Senior Center is government subsidized, and any government program can end just as rapidly as it starts. I hope it goes on forever, but you never know. We can still put a nice back entrance on the building."

Signature count due

City Clerk-Treasurer Fern Morris will meet with City Attorney Roy Hayes Friday to go over the petitions asking for a vote on the Community Center issue.

Last week, George Shank turned in 237 signatures on petitions asking for the vote. Only 132 valid signatures are needed, but names of people who are not registered to vote or who are not city residents cannot be counted on the petitions.

If there are not enough valid signatures, Shank will be given 10 days to get more.

If the petitions are validated, a vote on the question would probably be held in conjunction with the city primary election Aug. 7.

Senior Center Director Dorothy Pelton said at first she was apprehensive about noise from the Community Center, but she was assured that the Community Center "is not going to bother us, because most of their activities would be planned for the evenings."

Jamie Baumann, Community Education Director for the school district, wrote a letter to the council in April, pointing out that more school facilities are available now that the new high school has been built.

But she said the school gymnasiums are often not available from 4 to 10 p.m. during the school year because of athletic use. The elementary school gym is available more than the middle and high school gyms, but that gym is too small for many groups that want to use it, she said.

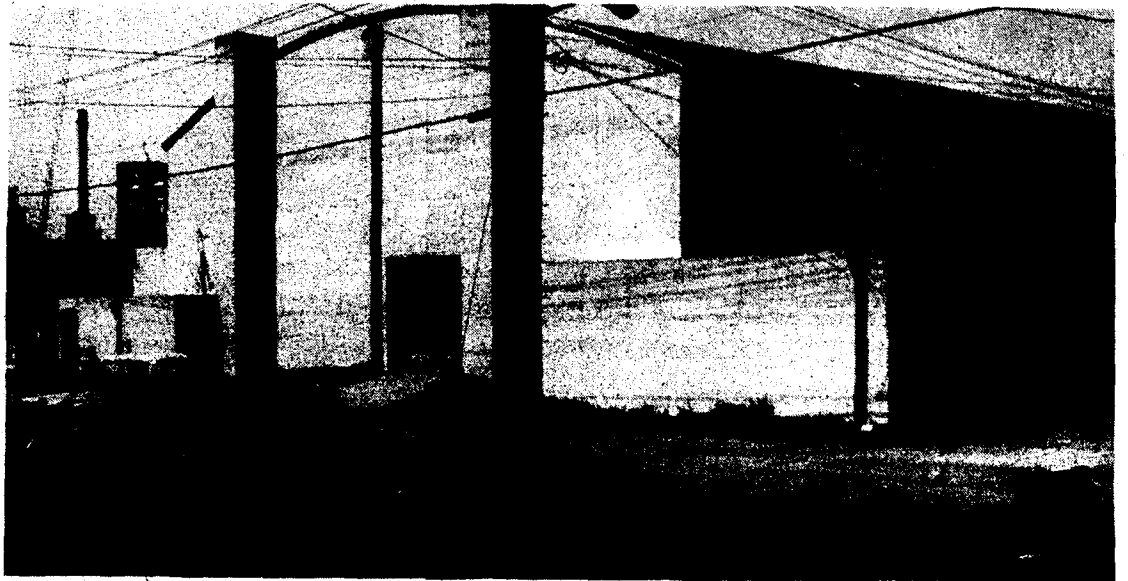

"If a large group wants to use a gym every Monday night all year long, they wouldn't be able to do it," Baumann said. "But if six or eight people want to have a club meeting, we have plenty of rooms available at night in the schools. And if they want a gym for a few weeks during the fall or spring, we could probably arrange it -- but not on a long term basis."

Since the council apparently wants this long-term flexibility, Baumann said she supports the idea of renovating the center.

Meanwhile, City Supt. Herm Rasch said he is proceeding to draw plans and bid specifications for the renovation project. He points out that the signatures on Shank's petitions haven't been certified yet. And if they are, and the voters approve the project, the plans will be ready. He will be advertising for bids on the project soon.

Rasch said he is attempting to make the alley entrance to the building as attractive as possible -- perhaps even with a canopy over the door.

"The alley view isn't so great, but so what? There's a junkyard next to the new high school. Those kinds of things can happen."

Here is the rear of the proposed Community Center, which now serves solely as the Charlevoix County Senior Center. If the renovation becomes reality, the back of the building will become the entrance to the Community Center. Senior citizens will still use the front.

Wanted: doctor to 'pinch hit'

EAST JORDAN - Health center officials are looking for a physician to "pinch-hit" for them for a month until their new doctor arrives July 1.

Klaus Hergt, who has been the center's first and only doctor for the past 18 months, will be working his last day here May 31. He will be opening a practice in Cheboygan.

The Family Health Center board has hired Dr. Mitch Carey to replace Hergt, but Carey won't finish his residency training program in Saginaw until July 1.

Carey will have one week off sometime during the middle of June, and he will work in East Jordan for that week. But Health Center Administrator Neal Colburn is now looking for another doctor to cover the other three weeks of the month.

Colburn had Petoskey physician Tom Depuydt lined up to pinch-hit for the entire month, but Depuydt has just learned that he must change his plans. He has been hired by a clinic in Oregon and he will have to start working there June 1.

"I'll have to start shopping around again," Colburn said, "but I don't think it will be difficult to find someone."

He said some other practicing doctors in the area might agree to come to the center part-time during the month.

Colburn is also checking to see whether the health center physician's assistant Susan Arndt can treat patients for "routine" ailments.

For wetlands bill

Problems ahead

BY DIANNE MURRAY
Capital Correspondent

LANSING - It took the Michigan Senate five hours of debate and countless hours of backroom politicking to finally pass a wetlands bill. But according to the senator who represents Charlevoix County, the final product still leaves much to be desired.

Senator Mitch Irwin says the wetlands bill, which will now go to the House of Representatives, is unacceptable.

Sponsored by Senator Kerry K. Kammer, D-Pontiac, the measure prohibits owners of swamps, bogs and other wetlands from draining, dredging, filling in or developing wetlands without state approval. If denied approval, a property owner could appeal through the courts.

The bill contains broad exemptions for farmers and also exempts wetlands of less than five acres.

The 37th District senator said his district "should demand nothing less than a fine wetlands bill that will benefit us."

The Sault Ste. Marie democrat said he is disappointed to have to voice opposition to the wetlands legislation. There is a need to reserve our resources, but this measure is not good legislation, Irwin said.

The bill, which has been called environmentally essential and economically disastrous for the past 10 years, passed the Senate 25-8 around 2 a.m. Tuesday to close a session that began at 8 p.m. Monday.

The legislation had been blocked in previous years by Senator Joseph S. Mack, D-Ironwood, who was chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee until he was voted on in January. Irwin opposed the bill, his legislative assistant said, because of inconsistencies and loopholes.

Irwin said the Senate failed to provide for a tax reimbursement for that proportion of the property owners' land that is designated as a wetland.

"This legislation shows no estimate of the unchecked power granted to the DNR (Department of Natural Resources)," he said.

Irwin intended to include amendments to the wetlands legislation.

During Monday night's session Irwin introduced an amendment which, if passed, would have granted each legislator "on a county or regional basis classification for their districts including both preliminary and final inventories unless the legislators requested not to receive said materials."

The proposed amendment was defeated.

Other amendments requiring the state to inventory all Michigan wetlands, inform landowners, buy all privately owned lands and exempt the mining industry were also defeated on lopsided votes.

One adopted amendment requires that one member of the wetlands appeal board be from the Upper Peninsula.

There is a need for more definition to pinpoint certain factors in the legislation, Irwin's assistant said.

The bill now goes to the House, where debate is expected to be equally active. That debate might not come until next fall, because the House is now working on the budget.

Symphony coming to town—free!

EAST JORDAN - It will be, in the words of school Superintendent Mel Rullman, "an enriching, enchanting and enlightening experience."

It's the Detroit Symphony, which will give a special performance Thursday, May 31, at 11 a.m. in the high school gym. High school and middle school children will be there, and the public is also invited to attend.

Nobody will be charged admission, thanks to donations from the Melpass Foundation, Northwestern State Bank, the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce, Portside Arts Council and the Crooked Tree Arts Council.

The 50 musicians are on a tour of Northern Michigan playing several school concerts, including one in Charlevoix on Wednesday, May 30. In addition to performing, the musicians will explain what they are playing for the benefit of those in the audience who are unfamiliar with classical music.

The Detroit Symphony was founded in 1914. The present musical director is Antal Dorati.

Parent wants to keep discipline issue alive

EAST JORDAN - When a dissatisfied Mary Jo Walker left the Board of Education meeting last month, she promised, "I don't intend to let this matter drop."

"This matter" was the charge by her and other parents that Bud Ashton, the new high school principal, is being too stern in his discipline. Mrs. Walker is now attempting to organize a group of parents to keep the question in front of the school board and the public.

"We have parents complaining and the school board isn't listening," she charges. "We feel that if parents organize they might listen to us."

"We are not against discipline," she said, "we are against the way it is being handled out."

She said the group will be on hand at the next school board meeting and also plans to interview candidates for the upcoming school board elections. "Possibly we can change things through the election," she said.

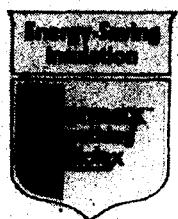

School officials declined to comment on the matter, although they have said the high school is more orderly since Ashton took over.

New public parking lot

This parking lot between Gemini Lanes bowling alley (at left) and the Ben Schenck Real Estate office is now open for public use. In an attempt to relieve downtown parking problems, especially in the summer, the East Jordan City Council is leasing the lot from Schenck for $300 a month for one year. If the new city lot seems to help, the lease can be renewed.

Here's help for farmers

BY DIANNE MURRAY
Capital Correspondent

LANSING - Preserving prime farmland in Michigan is a concern to all, from those who own the land to those who manage it. But many area farmers fail to take advantage of a government program which could help them retain farmland while saving tax dollars.

The farmland and open space preservation act, passed by the Michigan legislature in 1974 is an effort to slow urban sprawl into agricultural fringe areas which surround population centers.

There are two portions to the act. The first deals with the preservation of open space, undeveloped lands such as lakefronts or historic sites which are not for farming.

These lands are under other state jurisdiction. A local government and the individual landowner may enter into agreement to preserve the land for local reasons, such as to preserve the character of their area.

The second section deals with preserving farmland.

Any farmer who enrolls in the Department of Natural Resources program, PA 116, agrees not to develop his farmland for ten years.

In exchange for not developing on his prime farmland, the individual receives credit on his income against the property taxes he pays.

Brenda Brouillett, resource specialist with the DNR, said this tax break enables the farmer to get back all the property taxes he has paid which exceed seven percent of his income.

The farmer is also exempted from special assessment on non-farm land. That is, any water, sewage and drainage utilities that are not beneficial to the farmer or that he is not using, are exempted from him having to pay for them even if they run alongside his property.

The eligibility requirements to get into the program are fairly unrestrained.

"The law specifically states that if the applicant meets the minimum criteria of 40 acres of which 50 percent can be cultivated, or if it is a specialty farm between five and 40 acres, and given local approval, we can not turn it (the application) down," Brouillett said.

The local level receives the application first. Regional planning commissions study the application and from there it is sent to the DNR for approval.

"If the farmer is turned down (at the local level), he can appeal to the DNR. But there is such a low rejection rate because if it is farmland then local officials and the DNR are required to accept the application into the program," she said.

According to 1974 census figures, Charlevoix County has a total of 44,036 land and farm acres. Of that about five percent or 2,033 acres are enrolled in PA 116.

Brouillett did not know why so few Charlevoix farms were active in the DNR program but she said it was typical of Northern Michigan farms.

The preservation of the farmland program met much opposition when the Michigan legislature dealt with it in 1974.

Robert Craig, economic analyst for the DNR division of land resource programs, said the benefits of the program to the farmer outweighed the real estate lobby fight against passage.

"During the first two years of the program not much land was enrolled; just a little over 100,000 acres. But during the last three years we have gotten about 200,000 acres each year," Craig said.

The reason for the slow development of the program was because farmers were taking a "wait and see attitude," Craig said.

"Many farmers wanted to see how their neighbors who were in the program were doing. Some thought the program would involve a complete takeover by the state of their farmland."

Craig predicts that the program enrollment will exceed 1 million acres this year.

"Farmers are more educated about the program and what it will do for them," he said.

Currently, approximately 800,000 acres are enrolled in the program, with 42 percent of those farms located in urban counties.

The reason for the large number of farms located in the urban fringe of population centers being enrolled in the program is that as one gets closer to cities, the property taxes get higher, he said. "Those farms located in the urban fringe area have very high taxes. These farmers were the ones that took the initial step into the program because of the tax break benefits it offers," he said.

Craig said the program stops development on farmland areas but it does not halt the development all together.

"PA 116 stops development on farmland, but what often happens is that the demand for certain development will not disappear but it will just relocate," he said.

Farmlands have to be preserved for food production and the program directs development away from these essential lands to other areas.

"Some (developments) instead of going away from the city to the rural farm areas will develop in the cities."

"I do see it (PA 116) as stopping development on farmland, but not as stopping growth in total. The demand is still there but just channelled away from farmland to other areas," Craig said.

Farms such as this one in Evangeline Township can be protected from development by a Michigan law that gives tax breaks to farmers. Few area farmers have taken advantage of the program, state officials say. [Press photo by Joe McElroy.]

Memorial services set

Memorial Day services will begin early in the morning Monday, May 28.

Breakfast will be held for participants at the East Jordan American Legion Hall at 6 a.m. while a similar affair begins at 6:30 p.m. in the Boyne City Legion Hall.

At 8 a.m., memorial services will be held in Boyne Falls and at 8:15 a.m. in Walloon Lake; 8:35 at Evangeline Township Cemetery; 9 a.m. at Advance Cemetery; 9:15 at Wilson Township Cemetery and at 9:25 a.m. in Boyne City's Maple Lawn Cemetery.

Services in Boyne City's Memorial Park will begin at 10 a.m. A parade will precede it, going from the Legion Hall on Lake Street to State Street and then to the park.

In East Jordan, coffee and donuts will begin being served at 6 a.m. and the Legion Auxiliary will serve breakfast at 9:30 a.m.

The parade will form at the elementary school between 10-10:45 a.m., leaving from there for services at Memorial Park at 11 a.m. After the park services, another service will be held at the Christopher Taylor Bridge, honoring those who died at sea.

Cemetery services will be as follows: 7:40 a.m. at Calvary Cemetery; 8 at Pesek Cemetery; 8:15 at the Bohemian Cemetery; 8:35 at Dunsmore Cemetery and 9 a.m. at the Sunset Hill Cemetery.

All area groups such as Scouts and Little League are invited to participate in the services.

Gas watch

Spot shortages of unleaded gasoline were reported this week in Boyne Falls, but stations expect to have enough gas for the upcoming Memorial Day holiday weekend. Most stations will be open all weekend.

Will west coast gas problems spread?

You can see the past right now in Southern California; it's probably the future as well.

It's the winter of 1973-74 all over again in terms of gasoline shortages.

George Colburn

And its recurrence produces the strong suspicion that the 1980's are going to be different, far different, than any period in our lifetime. Naturally, for resort areas like Charlevoix County, the implications are ominous.

We've allowed our politicians to procrastinate for more than five years in developing a logical, fair energy policy because we really couldn't believe there was a problem of crisis proportions. Without strong, unified pressure from their constituents, the politicians drifted along with the rest of us, happily paying the slowly increasing prices for gasoline that was readily available.

Gasoline prices are much higher suddenly, and supplies are diminishing in the face of increased gas sales. And who do we blame? We blame the politicians, "government," the oil companies and maybe the Shah of Iran. We're not to blame individually or collectively. We are the "victims" of a conspiracy by the oil companies, or the non-policies of stupid and/or inept politicians, or capricious action by sinfully rich Arab despots.

For the past several months, there have been clear signs in Southern California of an impending "crunch" on gas supplies. Fewer and fewer stations were staying open on weekends; more and more were closing their pumps by late afternoon on weekdays. But it was not until recently that the message struck home with force.

All major newspapers in the southern part of the state published page one stories on the crisis with banner headlines. "Southland Gas: a Daily Headache Now" proclaimed the Los Angeles Times. The same day Governor Brown announced an emergency order setting into place an "odd-day, even-day" restriction on gas sales. The weekend was virtually gasless; the highways outside the cities strangely quiet.

The reason for the Governor's sudden action was growing chaos on the roads in and around gas stations. Long lines of cars waiting to buy gas were causing traffic problems and disrupting business at stores next to the stations. A number of violent incidents were reported when irate motorists felt they were being cheated out of a position in line, or discriminated against by station operators shutting down the pumps. The Los Angeles police promised they would arrest drivers who did not "maintain some semblance of sanity" while looking for gasoline, or waiting in line.

On Friday afternoon in San Diego, virtually all gas stations were closed. The few that were open had huge lines, likely caused by the psychology of the crisis. The average motorist, it was reported by one oil company, was filling up with four gallons of gas. That compares with a pre-crisis average of seven gallons. It was also estimated that more than 3 million gallons of gas would be wasted each week in Southern California by motorists waiting to buy gas in an idling car on an average of one hour each week.

Outside the cities of California, highway travel has been sharply curtailed. Memorial Day weekend in southern California will likely be a stay-at-home affair for most residents in sharp contrast to the usual activities on long weekends of this car-loving, recreation-oriented society.

The tourist towns of California are worried to death about the impact on their respective economies. And with good reason. If there is no gas on weekends, jobs will be lost, businesses will die, tax dollars for local governments will drop off, and the economy generally will be less healthy as government is forced to deal with higher unemployment, higher welfare payments, less tax income.

Anyone in Southern California who enjoys outdoor recreation -- fishing, hunting, skiing, backpacking, etc. -- is acquainted with the small town of Bishop. It is located on the main north-south highway that takes tourists into the Sierra Nevada mountains and the pleasures of the outdoor life. It is a town of small businesses geared to the tourist trade.

According to one merchant active in the Chamber of Commerce, a gas shortage "would destroy us." Another pointed out, even the fear of being stranded without gas will keep the city folks at home on weekends. The Chamber is considering buying ads in large city newspapers to alert people to the current availability of gasoline in Bishop on Sundays. However, for most urban-dwellers Bishop is more than one gas tank of gas from home. Thus, the ads might not help much.

We're in much the same dilemma in Charlevoix County if the gas shortage hits us. And hit us it will, according to experts who monitor the situation nationwide. Panic buying is likely to affect the rest of the nation as the gas station scenes in Southern California are reported by the national news media.

There are fascinating -- and disturbing -- photographs and film footage to send out to the world from California. For example, on Saturday in the San Diego Union the photo at the top of page one shows a family eating breakfast at a card table next to their car, which is lined up waiting for a station to open some two hours later. The Los Angeles Times page one photo shows two young ladies on roller skates selling snacks and drinks to motorists waiting in a long line.

Soon, I expect, there will be similar photographs being taken in the Midwest. The Chicago Motor Club has said the number of stations staying open on Sundays is steadily dwindling -- about two months behind the Southern California schedule. The closings are going to continue because oil company allocations to dealers are down from 5 to 15 percent and consumptions by drivers has been steadily increasing.

It likely will mean fewer weekend visitors for Charlevoix County. Still, the family coming north for a summer vacation of a week or more will probably not change plans. They can plan on traveling "up north" and back again during daylight hours on a weekday.

Fewer summer tourists, however, mean less dollars for our many small businesses and for our governmental units. And it is summer dollars that pay many of our merchants' annual bills.

Probably of more concern to all of us in the snow belt, are the implications for next winter. Supplies of heating oil are down substantially. This means the government is going to force oil companies to place less emphasis on the production of gasoline from crude oil and more emphasis on the production of heating oil. The result will be even less gasoline next winter and a serious drop in the number of weekend visitors who ski and snowmobile (not to mention higher heating bills for our homes and businesses).

If we are seeing the future in Southern California, and it appears certain we are, then we must all come to grips with that reality and work together to make it liveable.

Welcome to the 1980's. It's going to be interesting.

Memorial Day reflections

For many people, Memorial Day has become one of those obscure, almost meaningless holidays. Maybe that's because its name has changed, (older people sometimes call it Decoration Day) or maybe it shares an identity problem with the other holidays now celebrated on Mondays no matter where they fall on the calendar.

But it seems Memorial Day has some special problems.

Whatever the reason, to many people Memorial Day means little more than the beginning of tourist season, sort of a sneak preview of summer. The true meaning of the holiday, to honor those who have served America in wartime, has become lost to many Americans.

Patriotism has never really recovered from the Vietnam War. Many of that sorry spectacle's staunchest supporters accused those against the war of being unpatriotic. Unfortunately, many anti-war people believed this and have never been able to discern honest patriotism with pro-Vietnam thinking. This problem was probably worsened when veterans' groups opposed leniency towards Vietnam-era draft resisters, a sternness of sentiment not shared by most Viet vets themselves.

So membership in vet groups suffered, as did respect for outward symbolisms of patriotism, such as Memorial Day, especially among understood. They suffered just as earlier veterans had, but returned home without honor, victims of circumstance.

The country forgot Vietnam as quickly as it could, which was probably sensible, but it has also forgotten to give the war's vets the same breaks earlier veterans have gotten. For example, funding for Veteran's Administration hospitals has never kept pace with the increased patient load after Vietnam.

In addition to the shoring up of VA facilities, there are other advantages the Viet vet deserves. He deserves GI bill benefits that keep up with inflation so he can return to school if he so desires. He deserves commemoration in the form of the special Vietnam Veterans Awareness Week proposed for Michigan by Rep. Steve Andrews.

But such symbols as a commemorative week don't mean anything unless they are backed with concrete action. Such actions are examples of patriotism at its finest, and that's what Memorial Day is all about. Remember?

Editorial

younger Americans. Patriotism can be a great thing when used in a constructive manner.

Honoring the soldiers of past wars on Memorial Day is one such constructive activity. We would like to suggest another one, a renewed public interest in helping those most misunderstood of soldiers, the Vietnam-era veterans.

Viet vets gave years of their lives, and often life itself, for a war that they, their Army and country never really

Will this never end?

A couple of weeks ago I dwelt somewhat upon the gasoline farce. After that I thought the public would tire of the subject and switch its attention to the beetles that are killing the rutabagas.

Not so.

I've discovered that being able to wag your tongue renders one unfit to discuss anything but gasoline.

The subject won't go away. I like subjects that go away. I like to go to bed at night, cover up my head and awake to find people speaking eloquently about the evils of marriage, or why the city blows the fire whistle when there's no fire. Stuff like that.

But the public is ornery. Once it gets its teeth into something, it chews the daylights out of it. Even television and newspapers are still poking gasoline stories in between the ads.

Every night for a month Walter Cronkite has been telling the people of Boyne City that gasoline is short in California. It seems to me that one telling is enough. Why is he picking on Boyne City?

It's like the Watergate incident. For years after it had gone down into political history, television announcers felt they should continue pounding to keep it there.

Apparently the outside world is not aware that the people of Boyne City are unique. Once we've been hit over the head with the blunt end of the fact that gasoline is on the way out, we are not about to forget it by six o'clock. (Five minutes will be given the reader to make a careful examination of his personal uniqueness.)

Last week I wrote a little something about how Boyne citizens gobbled up the village of Bay Springs and made it their very own. Heavens! If I were to write column after column describing how I escaped from Bay Springs without a scratch, I would be accused of purposely forgetting that I'm a blockhead.

But Walter Cronkite drones on about gasoline night after night with the listeners hanging upon his every word. I just don't understand these people.

If a man announces that he is going to shoot me, I see no reason why he should spend an hour telling me how much it's going to hurt.

Letter

Governor replies

The following letter from Governor Milliken is a response to a letter from Bruce Sanderson regarding safety at Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant in Charlevoix. A copy of Sanderson's letter appeared in a recent edition of The Press.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson:

Thank you for your mailgram advising me of your concerns about safety at the Big Rock Point nuclear facility operated by Consumers Power Company.

I have noted the record of the Big Rock facility and formally requested the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission to assign a permanent resident federal inspector to the plant. While I am not qualified to judge the adequacy of the safety precautions taken at the plant, I do feel it is imperative that a person with the appropriate technical knowledge and the proper economic disinterest be assigned to assure that the operating specifications are met by the company.

I have expressed my dissatisfaction over the current situation to the Chairman of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, and you may be assured that I will continue to work in this direction.

Again, thank you for advising me of your views, and will you kindly share my response with the others included on your mailgram.

William G. Milliken
Governor

To the editor and citizens of East Jordan,

I wish to express my reasons for supporting the recently proposed Community Center project and the request by the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce for city participation in a master plan study for the downtown restoration project, "Today's Pride in Yesterday's Past."

Before I became a member of the city council, Chamber of Commerce or the business community, I read and studied a report from the East Jordan Planning and Zoning Commission on how the city might revitalize and enhance our communities image. It was a long range plan that called for some bold changes with some very dramatic results. But it was set aside and consequently lost in the shuffle.

East Jordan can boast of many assets. Our location at the mouth of the Jordan River and lowermost tip of Lake Charlevoix. The City Tourist Park, a favorite vacation site for city-weary families who appreciate the charm of the small hometown atmosphere which prevails. The small shops offer personal service to home town folks as well as summer visitors. The Family Health Center, new high school, Senior Citizens Center, Lakeview Manor, an outstanding fire department and ambulance service. I could continue to list our assets, but we have some liabilities as well.

We are on a beautiful lake, but do not have adequate docking facilities. Sportsman's Park, which is in desperate need of restoration, a downtown business district that is less than appealing if not downright depressing. An airport with very limited facilities, and a community center building in the very heart of town, large, sound, well constructed, but alas -- as yet uncompleted and over 40 years old!

In the past, many of the above mentioned projects have been brought to the citizenry by other city councils and have been met with the attitude, "We don't need that -- I won't support it -- let's vote it down."

Well, we really don't need nice homes, we could pitch tents or throw up a shack. We don't need new schools; the old one was good enough for me. We don't need new stores; we can always walk to Petoskey when the gas runs out, or raise our own chickens, pigs and cows.

Yes, I am being facetious. Of course we needed all of these things, because we're growing and it's progress. We've worked long and hard to make our lives better, and it's nice to look back with pride at our accomplishments, but we're not finished yet. It's time for the entire community to take a long hard look at East Jordan's liabilities and turn them, one by one, into assets.

Let's continue to better ourselves. Why not finish the community center building for year around recreational activities, a meeting place for large groups, social and cultural events, concerts, dances, roller skating; the possibilities are many.

I also feel the city should take part in the downtown renovation project by co-sponsoring a study of Main Street.

Often I've heard people express the wish that "East Jordan do something about downtown." Many of the buildings are indeed in need of sprucing up, both cosmetically and structurally. How many of us have, by necessity, traveled out of town to spend our money for purchases unavailable to us in our own community? We need to attract new business and merchants to fill our needs.

There is a large percentage of new businessmen on Main Street who wish to upgrade their buildings, to give East Jordan a facelift as it were, so we can all hold our heads high and say "Hey, we're a town with lots to offer and we're proud of our community."

In the past, apathy prevailed. The general feeling was -- let the other guy do it first. Many are not able to visualize the potential the particular character and unique qualities these old buildings built in the late 1800's and early 1900's possess. By the restoration of the old buildings, plus enhancing the newer buildings to lend themselves to the general historical mood of Main Street. East Jordan could, as a community, take advantage of another, up to now, liability and turn it into an asset.

Many have read about the Jordan Inn, featured in an article by a Detroit newspaper, and have traveled many miles to partake of a meal in the pleasant atmosphere of a Victorian era home. Why not pick up on that and continue the mood right down Main Street?

It's worked for other communities -- Petoskey's Gaslight Street, Harbor Springs, Central Lake; we don't wish to fabricate or imitate. We are, and wish to remain, East Jordan.

The purpose of the Main Street study would be to show everyone what the "project, "Today's Pride in Yesterday's Past" hopes to achieve. Consisting of two perspective drawings of the 100 and 200 blocks of Main Street from either end, everyone would be able to visualize the project concept, and the impact it would have on the entire community.

It would not be a detailed drawing of each individual building on Main Street. This would be up to each individual property owner to have done at his own expense as well as the actual restoration. Yet it would enable other businesses not located on Main Street to pick up on the theme and carry it out at their own location.

Civic minded groups and service organizations could expend the mood, perhaps with a gazebo type band stand in Memorial Park, the foot bridges in Sportsman's Park, perhaps a decorative water fountain on the lawn in front of the Senior Citizens Center enclosed by a Victorian cottage-type picket fence. Let's bring back the flower boxes, drinking fountains, old style street lights, and whoa -- not the horses -- at least not yet!

Now can you see the impact this study could have on East Jordan? The enthusiasm it could generate, the community pride and spirit of working together to revitalize our town?

Some said they felt the city shouldn't spend $1,000 of the taxpayer's money on a project such as this, but I say we spend that much and more for fireworks every 4th of July for an hour's show. This project will have a far-reaching impression for many years to come.

Already a television station wants to do a feature on East Jordan's restoration project. The publicity alone would more than compensate for the expenditures, and perhaps lure new businesses into town as well, making for better shopping facilities.

Put aside your negative feelings, both projects are going to benefit all of us. Get out your community pride and dust it off and start putting it to work.

It's not wrong to plan for a better tomorrow or to utilize all of our facilities to the best of our capabilities. Let's dare to meet the challenges of growth and progress yet retain the best of the past.

We on the city council are there to serve you. We can't solve all the problems, but we're working at it, and we need your help. What are your feelings on these two projects? Would you take time to write a letter? Let us know what you're thinking. We want to keep East Jordan moving, to make it better for you and for me.

Pat Sweet
East Jordan

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT the following proposition will be submitted to the vote of the electors at the Annual School Election:

MILLAGE RENEWAL PROPOSITION

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Boyne City Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, Michigan, be increased by 18.8 mills ($18.80 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for the year 1979, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a renewal of 18.8 mills for operating purposes which expired with the 1978 tax levy)?

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Regular Biennial Election of Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, Michigan, will be held at the same time and at the same voting places as the Annual School Election on Monday, June 11, 1979, and will be conducted by the same school officials for those electors of the intermediate school district residing in this school district.

At the Regular Biennial Election there will be elected two (2) members to the Intermediate School Board of Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District for full terms of six (6) years ending in 1985.

THE FOLLOWING PERSONS HAVE BEEN NOMINATED TO FILL SUCH VACANCIES:

Charlevoix gets ready for its centennial

CHARLEVOIX - How often do you get to see a battle between the troops of a Norman king and Irish settlers? Well, Saturday you will have your chance.

Charlevoix is celebrating its centennial over the Memorial Day weekend, and the highlight will be the reenactment of the Battle of the Pine River.

The event will begin at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in East Park on Charlevoix's Round Lake. A specially-written theme song, "Ballad of the Pine River," will be introduced at this time.

At 1:45 p.m. the "battle" will begin, with members of the Pine River Players, a local theatrical troupe, playing the 50 roles. The action will take place in the park, with a brief scene on the waters of Round Lake.

The idea for staging the reenactment of the 1853 battle came from local resident Dave Phillips. The battle started because King James Strang of the Beaver Island Mormon community didn't like the intrusion of Irish settlers on the mainland.

Strang sent some ships over to the mainland and, according to legend, one of the Irishmen accidentally fired his musket. A battle ensued, but nobody was killed, and the two sides eventually established a truce.

The battle is just one highlight of the Centennial weekend. It will be preceded by a parade downtown, which begins at 11 a.m. Most of the activities will take place in the park, although a street dance Saturday night featuring "Jasper and the Tag-a-longs" will take place on Clinton Street.

A canoe race will be held on Round Lake Sunday, May 27, at 1:30 p.m. Sponsored by the Charlevoix Jaycees, canoeists will be competing for $100 in prizes.

"Because Charlevoix has its historical roots in nautical activities," said Jaycee vice-president Michael Greeley, "we thought it would be appropriate to sponsor a canoe race during the Centennial celebration."

Charlevoix was settled more than 100 years ago, but the Centennial is being celebrated this year because the city was incorporated in 1879. It is now the county seat of Charlevoix County.

CENTENNIAL SCHEDULE

The Boyne City Snowbelt Chorus was in fine form at its annual Bush League Contest and Quartet Show last Saturday. The Barbershoppers gave the crowd an exclusive behind the scenes look at what goes on at the practices.

Higher admission prices for games

Area sports fans will be paying slightly higher prices next school year to see their favorite local teams, but school officials say the higher prices are necessary because of inflation.

Both Boyne City and Boyne Falls recently raised sports admission prices. In Boyne Falls, adults will now pay $1.50 for high school basketball games, up from $1.25. Students will pay $1, up from 75 cents.

Students will continue to pay 50 cents for junior high basketball games, but adults will now pay $1 instead of 75 cents. Senior citizens and pre-school children will be admitted free to all games.

Boyer City also has established free senior athletic passes to those 65 and older. The Board of Education also approved a $50 season family pass, enabling a family, no matter how large, to attend home football and basketball games for $50.

Adult tickets prices went up from $1.50 to $2, the first increase in several years. "All of us have seen inflation go up more than that," said board President Bill Chipman.

Boyer Falls Principal Carl Moser said the school would have to charge $3 a person per game to break even on the sports program.

Boyer Falls has also decided to re-finish its gym floor at a cost of $1,500. Superintendent Bill Upton said the move will help make the floor last longer.

Rafts away!

BOYNE CITY - City Manager Tim "Tom Sawyer" Clifton is organizing a raft race on the Boyne River which will be held during the city's Fourth of July celebration.

The blond-haired boy wonder of city hall says he and city clerk Tom "Huck Finn" Garlock will be building a raft to enter in the race, which they are billing as "the first annual."

Clifton said it won't be a conflict of interest for him to both organize and enter the race because there will be no entry fees or prizes -- just a lot of fun. Clifton said that "any raft-like structure" will be allowed in the race. The rafts can be made of anything that floats -- such as logs, inner tubes or styrofoam.

There must be at least two people on every raft, and anyone under 14, must be accompanied by an adult. The rafts can only be propelled by wind and human power. Paddles and poles are allowed, but not motors.

Clifton urges anyone interested in the race to "start building now." He'd also like people to pre-register by stopping or calling his office at city hall by Friday, June 29. The race will be held at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, July 4.

The starting point of the race hasn't been determined yet, but the finish line will be at the culverts in Old City Park.

Auto Club predicts record

Approximately 77 percent of Michigan service stations along major tourist arteries and 48 percent in the Detroit area plan to operate during the Memorial Day holiday to serve motorists expected to log a record 722 million miles in the state, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Auto Club's survey of 300 outstate stations showed 230 planning to operate. The remaining 70 were uncommitted, citing the uncertainty of gasoline supplies.

Forty-eight of 100 Detroit-area stations checked plan to operate. The other 52 also were uncertain because of the gasoline situation.

Last year, motorists set a record of 720 million miles traveled on Michigan roads during the 78-hour Memorial Day weekend.

"Early indications point to another travel record in 1979," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. He predicts a mileage increase of 3 percent over last year.

"Travel inquiries from our members are up more than 4 percent in the first quarter of this year and requests for Michigan Tour Books are up almost 3 percent over last year," he explained.

Department of State Highways and Transportation figures for the first three months of 1979 show a 6 percent increase in statewide travel over a year ago.

The Memorial Day weekend is the year's first big travel weekend, and Auto Club urges drivers to use extra caution on Michigan roads to help continue the downward trend of traffic deaths for this holiday. Last Memorial Day, 25 persons were killed on state highways compared to 31 in 1977 and 34 in 1976.

Alcohol was a major factor in last year's Memorial Day weekend deaths, with 55 percent of the 22 at-fault drivers either known or suspected to have been drinking. Approximately 60 percent of the fatal mishaps occurred within 25 miles of drivers' homes.

For the 15th consecutive year, Auto Club's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service will provide hourly traffic and tourism bulletins to 160 Michigan radio stations. The service, designed to aid motorists, will operate from 3 to 11 p.m. Friday (May 25); and from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday (May 26-28).

Hours for the 230 outstate stations planning to operate are:

Friday -- 100 percent open daylight hours, 45 percent after 9 p.m. and 14 percent after midnight.

Saturday -- 100 percent open daylight hours, 43 percent after 9 p.m. and 13 percent after midnight.

Sunday -- 73 percent open daylight hours, 37 percent after 9 p.m. and 13 percent after midnight.

Monday -- 88 percent open daylight hours, 40 percent after 9 p.m. and 13 percent after midnight.

Do it yourself yogurt

Yogurt tastes good anytime of the year and there are so many ways to serve it that it can be used in every course of a meal. Making your own

HOMEMADE YOGURT

You'll need:
large bowl
dish towels
pottery bowl with lid
1 quart skim milk
1 tablespoon plain yogurt
Line the large bowl with dish towels and into it place the pottery bowl.
Heat the quart of milk to the boiling point, pour it into the pottery bowl, and allow it to cool enough so it is "tolerable" to the touch, but hot. Remove about three quarters cup of the milk and stir the yogurt into it. Pour it back into the crock, stir and cover it with the lid. Drape a towel over it and let it sit on the counter for at least 8 hours. Don't disturb it in anyway!
Remove the lid carefully, remove the condensation on the lid and blot the water off the top of the water. Refrigerate.

Ginger Jackson

Yogurt is a very easy process, and if you eat a lot of it, can be a money saver.

All you need to start your own is milk and commercially produced yogurt or starter which can usually be purchased at a health food store.

Now you have yogurt.

To serve, it can be mixed with fruit, sprinkled with sugar or eaten plain. Yogurt can also be used instead of sour cream in any recipe.

For breakfast the following recipe is delicious.

YOGURT PANCAKES

Mix together the following ingredients:
1 1/2 cups flour (I use whole wheat)
2 eggs
1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups yogurt
1 tablespoon melted butter or oil (any fruit, nuts, raisins you want to mix in.)
Pour batter on a hot griddle, when done they can be topped with more yogurt, grated lemon rind and nuts or fruit.

YOGURT COOKIES

[makes a lot]

1/2 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup margarine softened
1 1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon soda dissolved in 3/4 tablespoons yogurt
3 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream together butter, margarine, and sugar. Add the eggs, and the remaining ingredients, adding the flour a little at a time. Mix well and chill until very cold.
Roll out very thin, cut and bake at 350 degrees on an ungreased cookie sheet until lightly browned.
These can be decorated, but are good just plain.
(The dough is hard to work with if it gets warm, so just do a little at a time.)

Bowlers end their season with awards and dinner

The Thursday Night Women's League held their annual banquet at Mogul Inn with 136 bowlers and sponsors attending. First place trophies went to Hamill Carpets and second place trophy went to the Depot team.

First place money for most points during the year was won by the Boyne City Lanes team. Class A Hi Series, Debbie Peck, 673; Class A Hi Game, Shirley Gahn, 257; Class B Series, Judy Jarema, 573; Class B Hi Game, Norm Miller, 225.

Class C Hi Series, Stella Prentice, 554; Class C Hi Game, Beth Downing, 218; Class D Hi Series, Janet McKinney, 528; Class D Hi Game, Loretta Redmer, 235; Class E Hi Series, Anita Kuhs, 482; Class E Hi Game, Pat Schroeder, 211.

The traveling trophy went to Loretta Redmer who bowled 235 with a 131 average. She also received a 100 over patch and an all spare patch for her 175 game.

Leslie Crain received the WIBC Achievement Award for raising her average 24 pins. The Hi Series Award went to Debbie Peck. Sandy Looze received a triplicate patch for a 131 triplicate in city tournaments.

Quick facelift for this EJ home

Nearly 30 area realtors got together last Saturday to show what can be done to improve the appearance of a house. This home owned by Sandy Sulak of Fourth Street is shown above as the work was beginning.

EAST JORDAN - Organizers described it as a "one day blitz," and that's certainly what it was - although a rain shower turned it into a two "half-day" blitz.

A group of about 30 real estate agents from throughout the county swarmed all over a frame house in East Jordan Saturday, and Sunday, giving it a complete "facelift."

It was a project of the Make America Better Committee of the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors. Antrim County realtors worked on a home in Bellaire, while the Charlevoix County agents worked in East Jordan.

Project chairman Joe Morris of Ski and Shore Properties in Charlevoix said the local realtor board decided to fix up the homes "to show that realtors care about their communities."

"Maybe others in the community will be encouraged to improve the appearance of their own homes as a result of our effort."

The East Jordan home chosen for the project, owned by Sandy Sulak, is located at 608 Fourth St. As might be expected, she was pleased to have the outside of her home redone. "I'm really happy about it. It looks like a new house now," she said.

The wood siding on the house was badly in need of painting. Starting at 8 a.m. Saturday, the realtors began scraping the peeling paint off the siding. Then it was sanded and painted, first with a primer coat, then with paint.

Cracks in the wood and gaps around windows were completely filled with putty and caulking compound before the painting began. Even storm windows and screens were given a thorough caulking and repainting - and in some cases new glass and screen was installed.

The workers were rained out Saturday afternoon, but they returned Sunday to finish the job. All that's left to do is install shutters on the front windows.

Materials for the job were donated or supplied at cost by area hardware and lumber outlets. The Realtor Board paid for any materials which were needed. Glen's Market even donated soft drinks for the workers.

and here as it looked after the project was completed. Rain delayed the work but didn't dampen spirits. (Press photos by Jim Baumann.)

Progress at industrial park

BOYNE CITY - Progress continues on the Boyne area's first industrial park.

A year and a half after plans were first announced, four of the eight lots at South Boyne Industrial Park have been sold and two others are on the market. A new building has been constructed, housing Charlevoix Truss Company, and there are tentative plans for another light industry which will manufacture equipment used for cleaning up oil spills.

C&D Machines has moved into the building formerly occupied by Sherwood Products, which has moved. The two lots went for $12,000 apiece, but Lew Hunt of John Buick Real Estate says the remaining lots will cost approximately $18,000.

The industrial park is located on the north side of M-75 in Wilson Township, just outside the Boyne City limits.

Why has the price of lots gone up? "There's nothing else available in the Boyne City area in terms of industrial space," Hunt says.

The 22-acre park is designed to house light industry without being a traffic burden on the city, since it is located outside of town. The park, when fully developed, will still have just one entrance to avoid the traffic problems caused by having traffic entering the highway from several spots.

According to the agreement made when Wilson Township agreed to the project, each new business must attractively landscape its property. No building can be taller than 35 feet, or two and a half stories.

If there is a need, Hunt says, the industrial park could eventually be expanded up to 40 acres, since the adjacent property is undeveloped.

The South Boyne Industrial Park is designed for light, non-polluting industry, Hunt said. No industry that discharges waste or fumes will be allowed in the park.

Husband-wife realtor team joins Boyne Ski & Shore

Ski & Shore Properties of Boyne City has two new real estate agents on its team, Gary and Charlene Roberts. Gary was salesman of the year while working for the firm's office in Bellaire.

He and his wife will now be working out of the Boyne City office headed by Mark Kowalske. Charlene is a 1975 graduate of Ferris State College.

Another upcoming change for Ski and Shore will be a new headquarters. Construction has begun on the company's new office in the former shell station owned by Lyle Kowalske across Water Street from the present headquarters.

Let us show you . . . .

MIKE SMITH

Mike is one of our newest members and he's out there working every day. Mike has the "hot hand" right now and he's really making deals. He is a Boyne City native and has completed a fifteen week real estate course at North Central Michigan College. Mike's strong suit seems to be in single family homes and he is extending his invitation to you to call him anytime, day or night. "Call me anytime, but call me!"

GARY BRANNON

Gary has been with us the longest, he started on a part time basis and is now a full time Realtor Associate. During the last two years he has gained momentum and now is one of the best real estate people in the area. Gary has completed the first portion of his "GRI" training, has attended seminars as far away as Oklahoma City and has the experience to help you analyze your needs, wants and desires. Be sure to call on Gary Brannon.

PEARL FRIEDEN

"Single women can buy a home." Yes, give Pearl a call and let her show you how to arrange financing for that "just right" home. Pearl is in her third year with us and is a homeowner herself. Her nine years experience with the savings and loan association and knowledge of the real estate market puts her in an excellent position to help you get into a home of your own. You can enjoy the pride of ownership, security and independence of home ownership. Call on Pearl today, she's our "Single Woman Specialist."

JOHN WINTER

Seems most everyone knows John Winter. He's a fine fellow and is respected thruout the community. John has completed intensive training from the Holloway Real Estate Institute and is working at real estate on a full time basis. We are impressed with John's integrity and sincerity and his efforts to be of service to the community. If you are planning to buy or sell property call on John any day except Sunday.

IRENE MACKIE

Irene is a lifelong resident of the area and graduate of Boyne City High School. She came to us with five years experience as the manager of a Gaslight area shop. Mrs. Mackie received her license earlier this year. She is attending North Central Michigan College and expects to complete that part of her real estate education program soon. Irene said, "It's an exciting and very satisfying job to be able to help people through such an important time in their lives." When that time arrives for you, think of Irene and give her a call anytime, day or evening.

ERNIE HAWKINSON

Ernie is our downstate representative and has been in and around the real estate business most of his life. He has built commercial buildings, single family homes as well as multiple dwellings. He is also our pilot. When the need arises and an aerial inspection of property is in order, Ernie Hawkinson is only a short phone call away.

A NEW LEVEL OF EXCELLENCE comes to Boyne City.

Excellence by definition means a superior performance, to surpass, to go beyond, and at Bieganowski & Associates we do just that. We excel. We meet and counsel with every individual who comes into our office as well as each property owner whose home we visit. Each of us live with a different set of circumstances and each transaction is different from the next. We have the education, experience and maturity to assist you in making those judgements that help you accomplish your goals. We believe in the "WIN-WIN" philosophy. "WIN-WIN" means that for one party of a transaction to win the other does not have to lose. Our goal is to have all parties to a transaction "WIN," and we excel at this! Our yellow page ad tells our story. "List with us, we are your local company. Although we go quietly about our work we have everything it takes to give you a complete buying/selling service. We handle the entire transaction from beginning to end and when we're through you'll know we didn't forget a thing."

Next time you consider buying or selling property make the right move and call Bieganowski & Associates. We want to go to work for you. Call us, one of our licensed associates will meet with you and personally explain our "WIN-WIN" philosophy. We are leaders in our field and we want your business.

MARTIN BIEGANOWSKI

Patience, understanding, experience and a creative mind is my contribution to the group. PATIENCE to listen to your needs, desires and dreams, an UNDERSTANDING of those needs, desires and dreams and aiding in making them into reality. EXPERIENCE that helps us make deals when there doesn't seem to be a deal there, and a CREATIVE MIND is what helps us search for those inovative ways to make people happy. If there is a way to make a deal we'll find it.

Martin Bieganowski Celebrating 20 Years In Real Estate Business

Twenty years ago this month Martin Bieganowski passed his real estate license exam and thus began a career in real estate that has continued for 20 years. During his first six years in the business Mr. Bieganowski worked for six different real estate brokers and in 1965 opened an office of his own in Fraser, Michigan. Within four years he had opened a second office and had thirty salespeople licensed to him. In addition to operating a successful real estate business he was a member of the Fraser Planning Commission for five years serving as chairman for three of those years. In recognition of his service the City of Fraser presented him with a "Distinguished Service Award." Martin also served as president of the Fraser chamber of Commerce during 1967 and 1968.

In 1971 Mr. Bieganowski along with his family moved to Boyne Country and purchased Mark Haines Realty. Shortly thereafter Bieganowski and Associates was established and the Bieganowskis purchased a farm south of Boyne City. He operated for a time as a one man office and presently has a staff of six licensed associates. Mr. Bieganowski has become very active in his Realtor board and in community affairs. He is presently a member of the board of directors for the Boyne Area Chamber of Commerce and is the vice president of the Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors. Martin has been involved in Little League and was cubmaster for two seasons; he has also served on the Wilson Township Planning Commission.

Mr. Bieganowski commented on his 20 years in the real estate business, "It is an enjoyable and exciting business, with new challenges appearing daily." He also stated that one of the most important parts of the real estate business is the continued education of the people in the business. Mr. Bieganowski is the chairman of the education committee of The Antrim-Charlevoix Board of Realtors and practices what he preaches, having attended and participated in twelve seminars during the past two years. "We think moving is more than just looking at houses. At our office we stress counseling, and what does that mean? It means we sit down with buyer and seller alike and compare notes, learn where they've been, where they are and where they want to go, both emotionally and economically, we then bring our knowledge and experience to bear on their own particular situation and help them decide a course of action." Mr. Bieganowski said, "The past twenty years have been very interesting and exciting, however, the future is where the challenge is. I'm looking forward to at least another twenty years of real estate and expect to remain in the area to help fulfill the dreams and desires of as many people as I can. Our trade-in program may be the answer for a great many people who would like to get into a larger or newer home."

Jane Russell top mom

Jane Russell was named Mother of the Year Saturday at the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet. About 265 mothers and daughters attended the banquet, which is sponsored each year by the Jordan Valley Lions. Clyde Turner was the speaker for the evening, and a magic show provided entertainment after dinner.

Sunday was centennial celebration for the Methodist Church. At 11:30 more than 200 people attended a dinner at the elementary school. At 1:30, everyone went back to the church to open the cornerstone. There was nothing in the cornerstone, but sometime this year a new one will be put in with all the happenings from this year's celebration.

A gift was presented to the oldest member of the church, Nettie (Meredith) Robinson who is 95 years old. The youngest member present was Gretchen Bey, 13 month-old daughter of Carl and Yvonne Bey.

Dr. Marjorie Matthews gave the sermon at a morning service. Other ministers present were Rev. Robert H. Moore who served the church from 1950 to 1956, and is retired now; and Rev. Lester E. Priest, who served from 1970 to 1974.

Archie Castle Jr. would sure like to hear from all his friends. His new address is: Pvt. Archie Castle Jr., 384-72-4598, Company-A 2NB-PLT-11th, MPBN-OST-11, U.S.A.P.S.-T.C.-F.N., Fort McClellan, Alabama, 36206.

Maxine Griffin and Ann Schilens spent Mother's Day weekend on Mackinac Island, where they visited friends. They dined with Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Degainer from Wallon Lake and also Dan Siele, a former Boyne City resident who is teaching school on the island. Sam, the buffet chef, took Maxine and Ann on a tour of the Grant Hotel's fabulous kitchen.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Evans from Sunnyvale, Calif., were four day guests at the home of Eva Johnson. On Mother's Day, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sumner of Flint were visitors.

SURVEY QUESTION

Now that you've been returning all your bottles and cans for six months, how do you like it?

I don't like it myself. We might be saving aluminum but it seems like we are losing money.

I don't have to worry about it because I can't afford to buy even pop any more. It has gotten to be too expensive.

I don't think it's fair to the store owners to have to store all this garbage in their stores. When you walk into some of the stores here they smell like breweries. There should be a swifter way to take care of all these cans and bottles.

I hate it, it is sure a pain in the dupa. I don't like it because it was easier to just throw them away than drag them back to the store.

It doesn't bother me because I always bought bottles that were returnables.

It seemed like the beer and pop tasted better in bottles.

It sure is a great change to see the side of the roads are spotless and not full of cans and bottles. I think the best thing was for us Michiganders to clean up is bottle and can pollution.

It's okay to pay a deposit on the cans but how come the beer prices had to go up so high?

Open house for Fines

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fisher were the hosts at an open house Saturday evening May 12, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fine, who were married March 23, Mrs.

Pat Taylor

Fine is the former Marlene Fortune. The affair was held at Marche's Lodge and a carry-in dinner was enjoyed.

The couple received many gifts and a money tree. Marlyn Hamlin made and decorated the wedding cake. The Fines will leave for Grand Ledge after school is out to make their home.

Chuck and Ellen Remaley of Battle Creek spent the Mother's Day weekend with her mother, Mrs. Guy Cotanche. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tillapaugh of Mt. Morris are vacationing at Marche's Lodge for a week. They are also visiting his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Sherk.

Darles Matthew, librarian, Marlyn Hamlin, board member of Crooked Tree Library, attended a Northland Cooperative Advisory Board meeting at Mio recently.

Mrs. Willis Planck of Walloon and her sister-in-law, Glenda Planck of Boyne City, spent the weekend of May 13-14 at Sault Ste. Marie for a bowling tournament. While there they visited the Canadian Soo.

The bake sale at the Village General Store May 12 was a huge success for the Cancer Society. The afghan made and donated by Betty Goldsmith was won by Henry Erber of Boyne City. Mrs. Goldsmith has made an afghan every year for five years for their raffle in tribute to her father, the late Wallace Padgett.

The committee wishes to thank the following for their time and effort and everyone who contributed to the cause, Linda Bavin, Esther Simpson, Mildred Breidenstein, Pauline Kenroy, Carol Hudson, Kay Bills, Vickie Williamson, Ruth Marchbanks, Betty, Edward (Red) Lenich, the Ladies Missionary Society, and last but not least Chris Robinson. Also her husband Andy for letting the society use the store these past few years. The final count was $909.25.

Peggy Noirot married

Peggy and Larry

Peggy L. Noirot and Lawrence R. Potter were married May 5 at the Community Reformed Church, Charlevoix, in a double ring ceremony officiated by Rev. Larry Grooters.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Noirot of East Jordan. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Potter of Charlevoix.

The bride wore a gown of white Sheerzanza with Venice lace trim on the bodice and sleeves. It featured a Queen Anne neckline and empire waist. The skirt flowed to a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a seed pearl headpiece and trimmed to match the gown. She carried a bouquet of white roses, blue carnations and stephanotis.

Bridesmaids were Jane Noirot, sister of the bride, Eileen Mosher and Jackie Drenth, all of East Jordan. They wore matching light blue gowns with high lace necklines and fitted bodices. Groomsmen were James Potter, brother of the groom, Roger Crain, Ralph Doan, and Ron Bendi.

Flower girl was Kristen Browne, niece of the groom. She carried a basket of light blue carnations and baby's breath. Ringbearer was Jeremy Doan, son of one of the groomsmen.

Cindy Mansen, cousin of the groom, sang "Annie's Song," and "The Wedding Song." Organist was Mrs. Francis Boss.

A reception followed at the American Legion Hall, Charlevoix. The cake was made by Deborah Noirot.

Following a wedding trip to Virginia Beach, the couple will live in Charlevoix. The bride is a 1976 graduate of East Jordan High School and is a secretary at Ron Pair Enterprises, Charlevoix. The groom is a 1972 graduate of Charlevoix High School and a 1975 graduate of Ferris State, Big Rapids. He is an instrument and control technician at the Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant, Charlevoix.

Ross A. Jones, 56

EAST JORDAN - Funeral services for Ross A. Jones, 56, were held Saturday at the United Methodist Church. Rev. Dan Minor officiated and interment was in Sunset Hill Cemetery. Mr. Jones died unexpectedly May 17 at his home on Dutchman's Bay Road.

July wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. James Oaks of Dayton, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann Brady of Columbus, Ohio, to Raymond G. Anthony of Columbus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anthony of Boyne City. The bride-elect is a graduate of Sawyer College of Business of Dayton and is employed by Galbreath Mortgage Co., Columbus, Ohio. Her fiancé is a graduate of Central Michigan University. He is employed by Muirfield Village Golf Club, Dublin, Ohio.

The wedding is planned for July 21 at the Horton Bay United Methodist Church.

He was born in royal Oak on Oct. 24, 1922. Mr. Jones was a veteran of World War II, having served with the U.S. Navy in the North Pacific.

On Oct. 31, 1947 he married the former Gladys Wiltsie at Muskegon. They resided in Pontiac until coming to East Jordan in 1953. Mrs. Jones preceded him in death April 16, 1977.

Mr. Jones had been employed at Detroit Edison Co., before 1953 and since then has been employed at the Northern Michigan Electric Co-operative as a switchboard turbine operator. He was a member of the Peninsula Grange.

Survivors include three sons, Bradley and Lance of East Jordan and Robert at home; a daughter, Eileen, also at home; three grandchildren; four brothers, Donald of California, William of Port Huron, Bruce of Oak Park and Gerald of Madison Heights.

The family suggests anyone wishing to honor his memory; may contribute to the Family Health Center in East Jordan.

The Vanderwall-Watson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

BOYNE CITY COMMISSION MINUTES

RECORD OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE BOYNE CITY COMMISSION DULY CALLED AND HELD AT THE BOYNE CITY HALL COMMISSION CHAMBERS ON TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1979 AT 7:00 P.M.

Roll Call: Present: Mayor Pro-Tem Thelma Behling, Commissioners Joseph Gierlach, Catherine Jessup and Steven Moody. Absent: Mayor Keith Fitzpatrick. Also Present: City Manager Timothy Clifton, City Clerk Tom Garlock and City Attorney Harvey Varnum. In the absence of Mayor Fitzpatrick, Mayor Pro-Tem Behling chaired the meeting.

Correspondence was read from State Representative Steve Andrews requesting the Commission to adopt a Proclamation recognizing Vietnam Veterans Awareness Week of May 28 thru June 3, 1979.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Moody to adopt the Proclamation to recognize Vietnam Veterans Awareness Week and direct the City Manager to contact the local service organizations to help support this Proclamation, especially during this Memorial Day services of the community. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Correspondence was read from Michael Davis, Director of the Charlevoix-Emmet County Youth Activities Program, requesting support from the City on the establishment of a Boyne City Youth Authority, as a pilot project in the area, to test the feasibility of such a program. The program would be designed to aid and help the problem youth by establishing recreational and useful activities for them. Following discussion, the matter was tabled until the next meeting, so that Mr. Davis could formulate more data to present to the Commission.

Correspondence was read from the Boyne City Housing Commission inviting the Commission to hold their Regular Monthly meeting at Litzenger Place on July 10th, 1979. The invitation was accepted. The Housing Commission also thanked the City Commission for approving funding to pave Wenonah and Harris streets this year.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Gierlach to accept the following people as officers of the Boyne City Fire Department: Fire Chief Louie Schomberger; Assistant Chief Butch Erber, Captain Tom Garlock; Lieutenant Henry Erber. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Moody to approve a new SDM license for Country Star Markets, Inc., to be located at 430 North Lake Street (formerly the B&C Markets, Inc.), pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

At a previous meeting, the City Manager recommended that the Commission hold their summer meetings at various locations in the City to try to more actively involve the individuals in the respective areas that the meetings are held. Consequently, the City Manager recommended three different locations for meetings to be held this summer.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Gierlach to hold the following three Regular Commission Meetings at the sites as mentioned below, with a notice of change of meeting site to be published:

Tuesday, June 12, 1979, at 7:00 p.m. in the basement of the Boyne City Public Library, 201 East Main Street.

Tuesday, July 10, 1979, at 7:00 p.m. in the Community Room of Litzenger Place, 829 South Park Street.

Tuesday, August 14, 1979, at 7:00 p.m. at the former site of the Misty Morning Trading Company, 113 Groveland Street.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Gierlach to authorize the City Manager to sign a Harbor Master Contract on behalf of the City, with Mr. Grant Moore to cover the 1979 summer season, in the amount of $2,729.00 and to leave the rate schedule for dockage the same as 1978 rates. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on the signing of a contract between the City of Boyne City and the Chamber of Commerce in the amount of $3,000.00. In the past the City has made monthly payments to the Chamber of Commerce but without any legal contract or stipulation of funds. The City is required that all expenditures be consistent and be expended only for services which are normally provided by the municipality.

The proposed contract details services which the Chamber performs which, if they were not performed by the Chamber, would have to be performed by the City. Furthermore, the agreement stipulates that the funds can only be used for those purposes and an annual report must be submitted by the Chamber for approval by the City.

The intent of the agreement is solely to insure the legality of the City's expenditure to the Chamber of Commerce and is not intended to place additional restrictions or requirements on the Chamber.

Moved by Moody, seconded by Gierlach to authorize the City Manager to sign a contract between the City of Boyne City and the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce in behalf of the City of Boyne City, in the amount of $3,000.00, for fiscal year 1979-80, for services to be performed as outlined in the contract below.

AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT made and entered into this 10th day of May, 1979, by and between the CITY OF BOYNE CITY, a Michigan municipal corporation (hereinafter called the "CITY"), and the BOYNE CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, a non-profit corporation (hereinafter called the "CHAMBER").

WHEREAS, the Chamber was established to protect citizens from unfair and fraudulent business practices; mediate disputes between citizens and businesses; promote better relations between citizens and the business community; and, in general, to promote the City of Boyne City.

WHEREAS, the police power of the City relates not only to public health and public safety but, also, to public financial safety;

WHEREAS, the activities of the Chamber will promote the public financial safety;

WHEREAS, the City supports the efforts of the Chamber and desires to promote the welfare of its citizens;

WHEREAS, the citizens of Boyne City would be best served by an active Chamber;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY AGREED BETWEEN THE PARTIES,

1. The Chamber will do the following:

- Operate within the City of Boyne City as a clearinghouse for consumer information and complaints. The Chamber will be open during established business hours and staffed so as to perform its services without undue delay;
- Provide the citizens of the City with information about consumer protection laws, questionable business practices, the past practices of business firms, and the legitimacy of mail, telephone and door-to-door solicitations;
- Carry on a program to educate consumers regarding questionable business practices;
- Cooperate with law enforcement agencies in the enforcement of consumer protection laws;
- Cooperate with the news media in consumer education programs;
- Provide mediation services for consumer complaints;
- Promote the attractiveness of Boyne City for residential, commercial and industrial pursuits through sponsored activities and pamphlets.

2. The Chamber shall be considered an independent contractor and shall not be considered an agent of the City.

3. All funds provided by the City shall be used only to operate the services outlined above.

4. The City shall pay Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000.00) to the Chamber for each year that this Agreement is in effect to help defray the cost of services rendered to residents of the City.

5. This contract shall commence on May 1, 1979 and terminate April 30, 1980. It may be renewed for any subsequent year if the parties agree.

6. The Chamber will furnish an annual written report to the City detailing the activities of the Chamber for the contract period and listing the specifications paid for by the $3,000.00.

Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The Cemetery rate schedule has not been revised in approximately 7 years. The cost of labor, materials and services have escalated to the point that the fees charged were not consistent with the actual cost. The new rate schedule was revised in an attempt to make the fees charged consistent with the City's expenses. The revised rates were approved in the 1979/80 fiscal year budget.

Moved by Jessup, seconded by Moody to amend Ordinance A-17, Section 8, Cemetery Ordinance, to take immediate effect as follows:

Section 8

New Price Schedule for Cemetery Lots

No. of Graves	Charges

City Manager gave a report on the feasibility of initiating a 4 year program to purchase 800 read-o-matic water meters to alleviate time and expense in the reading of meters throughout the City. Such purchase would result in a significant cost savings to the City in the long run and estimated readings of water usage would be eliminated. The proposal is to purchase 100 new meters the first year; 200 the second year; 200 the third year and 300 the final year.

Moved by Gierlach seconded by Jessup to authorize the City Manager to purchase 100 remote reading meters from the Badger Meter Company in an amount not to exceed $4,000.00. Funds are budgeted and are available in Account Code 592-591-975-01 - Remote Meter Installation. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

City Manager gave a report on the necessity of retaining an engineer to work out the specifications for the Capital Improvement Program which incorporates water improvements, sewer improvements, street improvements and sidewalk improvements. Each of these facets require preliminary engineering and design standards be performed so that they can be developed into bid specifications. In an attempt to reduce expense to the City in terms of engineering fees, a local engineer, Bidstrup Engineering was contacted. Upon investigation of his experience and knowledge, it is recommended that this firm be retained to perform the engineering study.

Moved by Gierlach, seconded by Jessup that Bidstrup Engineering be retained and that the City Manager is authorized to sign a contract on behalf of the City in amount not to exceed $10,000.00 or 10% of the Capital Improvement Program. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

A report from the City Manager on the hiring of a firm to develop a Comprehensive Plan was given, with official approval being asked of the Commission for the retention of Johnson, Johnson and Roy as the Planning Consultants.

A Technical Advisory Committee, composed of the City Manager, the County Planner, the Planning Commission Chairman and a City Commissioner member is scheduled to meet with the firm on May 21, to develop a detailed workplan. This meeting would permit the gathering of data and initiation of survey work to begin as early as the first of June.

Moved by Gierlach, seconded by Jessup to authorize the City Manager to enter into a contract with Johnson, Johnson and Roy, for the development of a Comprehensive Plan for the City of Boyne City, in an amount not to exceed $30,000, with the funding to be spread over fiscal year 1979-80 and 1980-1981. Budgeted funds for fiscal year 1979-80 are available from Account Code 101-101-990-01. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

The City Manager gave a report on a survey and staking of Avalanche Mountain Preserve, stating that without such a study, it is difficult to delineate any property lines or placement of proposed recreational activities without knowing exactly where property lines are located. He indicated that a survey and staking of property lines would cost an estimated $6,500.00.

Following discussion, the Commission tabled the matter, until more facts can be gathered as to which approach should be undertaken to complete this plan, by either doing the job all at once or on a piecemeal plan. The City Manager will report back at a future meeting with additional information.

Accounts payable for the month of April, amounting to $40,153.71 were approved, with the City Manager stating the final month of the 1978-1979 budget fiscal year report showed that the City was in sound financial condition. Expenditures for the year were approximately $30,000.00 under budget.

The City Manager pointed out that since a Historical Commission has been created to preserve and recognize the history of Boyne City, names are now being taken under consideration to serve on this five-member board. It was expressed that anyone desiring to serve on this board, should call the City Manager and volunteer their name, so that a full board can be named in the immediate future.

The City set the dates for leaf pick-up for the month of May. Pickup dates were scheduled for Wednesday, May 9 and Thursday, May 10, for homes north of the Boyne River and homes south of the Boyne River will have their leaves picked up on Wednesday, May 16, and Thursday, May 17. Only leaves, twigs and grass clippings securely placed in plastic trash bags will be collected by the City.

The City Manager gave a report on organizing activities for the 4th of July. He stated that there will be an organizational meeting of all individuals and groups who are interested in sponsoring activities at Memorial Park on the 4th of July. The meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. in the City Commission Chambers on Monday, May 21, 1979.

All activities must be approved and scheduled in advance by the City Manager. A master map will be utilized to show the exact location of each activity to avoid confusion in setting up on the 4th of July.

Moved by Moody, seconded by Gierlach to accept the bid of Charlevoix Savings and Loan, Inc., for the purchase of the old city hall buildings and land in the amount of $75,000.00, following conclusion of an acceptable appraisal by both parties, with the City Commission to have the opportunity to participate in the approval of the design of the new building. The City Commission also reserves the right to review any use or change of design of the old street garage. Roll call all yeas. Motion carried.

Moved by Gierlach, seconded by Moody that the meeting adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 8:38 p.m.

Tommy Garlock, City Clerk

EAST JORDAN CITY COUNCIL

PROCEEDINGS OF EAST JORDAN CITY COUNCIL

East Jordan City Council met in regular session Tuesday, May 15, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. Mayor Meredith presiding and all members present.

Minutes were approved. Authorization was given to pay $26,677.97 in bills as presented and the necessary transfers made.

Action taken by council included becoming a participating provider of ambulance service in conjunction with Blue Cross-Blue Shield policies; sending two ambulance attendants to school in Lansing on May 22; adopting a resolution endorsing the proposed county wide bus program; rezoning from R-1 to C-2 (General Commercial) the East Jordan Lumber Yard area; increasing HUD loan closing fees and raising city mileage allowance to 20 cents per mile.

Requests for zoning variances by Arman Drapeau and Wm. Gipperich were approved; a request by Albert Slate was referred back to planning and zoning and a request for a special use permit to do auto body repair in an R-1 zone by Jerry Vrondran was denied.

Bids were received for the JD500 and referred to the finance committee with power to act.

A request by the renovation committee for financial assistance was denied; Laurie Fox was given permission to sell "Feed for the Birds" at the park again this season; the landfill committee will arrange with a private garbage hauler to pick up the city's garbage; signs will be put up at the leased parking lot on Main Street; attempts will be made to solve the water problem, "doing something" about the black of Esterly between Bowen and Elm; and assisting with the cleanup of Sportsman's Park.

An ordinance is being prepared to have the city enforce traffic rules on school property.

Gifts were received from the East Jordan Garden Club for picnic tables at Elm Point and from East Jordan Women's Slo-Pitch for bleachers at the softball field.

A petition was presented to the clerk requesting a people's vote on the community building renovation project which is underway. The clerk will check it for form and signatures.

Nominating petitions for mayor and councilmembers will be received by the clerk until 4:00 p.m. on June 19, 1979. Forms are available.

Next council meeting will be held on Monday, June 4 at 7:30 to avoid a conflict with high school graduation.

Meeting adjourned at 9:05 p.m.

We salute the 1979 honor students of Boyne City, East Jordan, Boyne Falls and Ellsworth.

EAST JORDAN

BOYNE CITY

ELLSWORTH

Julie Bolser

Keith VanderSlik

Ellsworth High School's top graduates for the Class of 1979 are Keith VanderSlik, Mary Muha and Julie Bolser. Keith earned Valedictorian honors this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Enos VanderSlik. Keith accumulated a 3.508 grade point average out of a possible 4.000 during his four years of high school at Ellsworth. Co-valedictorian for the Class of 1979, is Mary Muha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Muha of Ellsworth. This is actually Mary's third year of high school, but she has completed all graduation requirements early and will attend Oberlin College next fall. Mary's grade point average for her three years at Ellsworth High School was 3.871. The Salutatorian for the Class of 1979 is Julie Bolser, daughter of Janette Bolser and the late Max Bolser. Julie earned a 3.489 grade point average. After graduation, Julie plans on attending North Central Michigan College at Petoskey. Other honor students of the Class of 1979 who earned a 3.000 grade point average or better during their four years at Ellsworth are Luann Rozema, Mary Rubingh, and Ron Houtman.

BOYNE FALLS

Here are the Honor Students from Boyne Falls High School. All of them plan to attend college, and the institutions they will attend are listed in parentheses. From left to right are Kelly Spencer [Northern Michigan University]; Jackie Massey [North Central Michigan College]; Lisa Kullik [North Central Michigan College]; Jane Kondrat [Central Michigan University]; Phil Franczowski [Muskegon Business College]; and Sarah Wasylewski [Muskegon Business College]. Franczowski is class valedictorian and Jane Kondrat is salutatorian.

Congratulations to these honor students and to all graduating seniors. It is our wish that you reach whatever goal you may set for yourself.

May the future be as bright as today!

FREE CONTOUR ANALYSIS EXAMINATION FOR VICTIMS OF CHRONIC OR ACUTE PAIN

The International Pain Control Institute in conjunction with New York Chiropractic College is presently engaged in what is the most extensive research program ever undertaken by the chiropractic profession. This research is directed toward determining the relationship between health problems and spinal misalignments and utilizes a screening process called Contour Analysis.

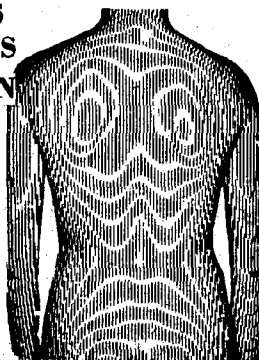

Volunteers are being sought for screening. Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Moore photography) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns; spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortions, and scoliosis.

There is no charge to participating volunteers, since the doctors are contributing their time, service, and facilities for the program. Final processing and evaluation will be done at the New York Chiropractic College.

Anyone wishing to be a volunteer may telephone participating doctors directly for information or an appointment.

Trackers head downstate

BOYNE CITY - Several members of the Boyne City High School track team will be competing in the state finals Saturday, June 2.

Following strong performances in last week's regional at Petoskey, Sara Bricker and Becky Aimesbury will be in the girls state finals at Cassopolis, near South Bend, Indiana.

Representing Boyne's boys team at the state finals at Michigan Center, near Jackson, will be Tim Kenney, Paul Bragenzer, Tom Pluister, Jeff Grice, Eric Sevener, Mitch Moore, Pete Knysh and Tom Pluister.

The Boyne boys tied for third out of the 17 teams in the regional, which was won by Rogers City with 88 points. Benzie finished second with 83 points while Boyne had 54, as did Whittemore-Preseott.

The Rambler girls finished ninth with 26 points. Alcona High School took first place.

Kenney won the shot put with a throw of 48 feet, 10 inches. He was third in the discus. Bragenzer finished second in the high hurdles with a time of 15.8 seconds.

The 440 relay team of Pete Knysh, Jeff Grice, Eric Sevener and Mitch Moore finished third with a time of 46.8 seconds. Half miler Tom Pluister was second with a time of 2:04.

Fourth place finishers for Boyne City were Ray Greene in the long jump; Jon Bragenzer in the high hurdles; and Jeff Grice in the 220 yard dash. The 880 relay team was also fourth.

For the girls, Sara Bricker was second in the 220 hurdles and Becky Aimesbury was second in the 440. Aimesbury was also fourth in the 100 yard dash and fifth in the 220.

Bricker was also fourth in the shot put.

Mushrooms and song

A big Boyne weekend

Non-resident mushroom champ Paul Whipple shows off one of his big white morels. He says his downstate neighbors follow him when he goes mushrooming, since he knows the best spots.

BOYNE CITY - It was a satisfying weekend for mushroom hunters, music fans and area businessmen as the Annual Mushroom Festival and Barbershoppers Bush League Contest brought crowds to town.

The mushroom festival was held later than usual this year, and this year's champion, Dana Shaler, said he likes the later date.

"Holding it back this year seemed to increase the count," said Shaler, who found 445 mushrooms in the finals. "Right now the mushrooms are at their peak. They're all out there, the whites and the blacks."

Shaler said the mushrooms are a bit smaller than usual this year because of cold spring weather. "If we'd have had a few more warm days the sizes would have been better," he said.

The finals were held on public land in Chandler township, near Springvale Road. Shaler, who has won the event several times, knew the area. He remembered a good spot, so that's where he headed.

He was in luck. "When I got there, the mushrooms were there," he said. But other contestants also found the area, so, "When it got too crowded, I went somewhere else."

Different mushroomers use different approaches. Shaler's strategy is to run like heck when the hunt starts and then eventually double back to the starting point as the hunt ends.

"I get back away from everybody so when I do hit a patch, I have time to pick it by myself," he said.

Shaler predicts that good mushrooming will continue for the next week to 10 days. He says more white morels will be appearing on hillsides.

It's been a banner year for mushroomers. Shaler's total was well over the 128 winning count turned in by Stan Boris last year. In the resident division, Ed Crozier was second with 364 mushrooms while Dale Karlskin was third with 283.

In the non-resident division, Paul

Whipple of Grand Haven was first, finding 309 morels. He swears his neighbors follow him out of town when they know he's going mushrooming because they figure he knows the hot spots.

Mary Baxter of Elida, Ohio, was second with 155, while her sister, Joyce Brenneman, was third with 135.

First place winners receive $75, while second place earns $50 and third place wins $25.

The event is sponsored by the Boyne Area Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce. Lion Bruce Hubble, who headed the contest this year, said 44 residents and 87 non-residents entered, a lower total than usual.

What separates a good mushroomer from the average one? Dana Shaler says there is no magic secret, although he says, "I spend a lot of time in the woods, so I know what to look for and where to look."

Another successful event was the Annual Bush League Contest and Show, sponsored by the Boyne City Barbershoppers. An estimated 800 people were present Saturday night to hear several groups, including the Boyne City Snowbelt Chorus.

The winning quartet was Black Velvet, a group from Grand Rapids that was formed last October. A total of 13 quartets competed.

Loton Willson, the founding member of the Boyne City Barbershoppers, said the quality of competition was higher than usual.

"The overall quality of the quartets was one of the best," he said.

Dave Crumbaugh of Boyne City was the top mushroomer in the first day qualifying round. Here he shows off his haul, which he said he planned to sell.

Car crusher coming

BOYNE CITY - The city has set up a program to provide free hauling and demolition of junk cars.

Police Chief John Talboys said Jerry Maats has been enlisted to haul junk cars to a site on Jefferson Street outside the city limits, where they will be fed to a car crusher early next month.

Maat will haul any car away free of charge and will pay for cars that haven't been stripped of their engines, transmissions or other weighty parts.

If you want a little more money for your car, you can haul it out to Maat's land yourself. But he asks that you call first at 582-2251 so he can decide where your car should be placed in the lot. You can also call the police, who will relay the message.

The move to bring a car crusher to town is part of a general clean up campaign being staged by the city. The City Commission will next week discuss a proposed ordinance against the storage of junk cars in town.

WHERE THE GOOD TIMES JUST KEEP ROLLING ALONG

BY JOE McELROY

BOYNE CITY - They were an unlikely group of public figures, as surprised as anyone when they were thrown into the public eye last fall. Now, two months after the five month strike ended at Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company, the former employees still find it a bit hard to believe what they have been through.

"It just never occurred to me that anything like this could ever happen," says Yvonne Hocquard, who started working for the co-op in 1944. "I don't think any of us thought we'd be out over three weeks."

But only two of the 25 striking office employees ever got their jobs back. Preston Schomp, rate technician, was immediately rehired to do his specialized meter work, and Glenda Crain was called back to her computer job.

But the rest of the former office workers are out in the cold. The strike ended when company linemen voted to go back to work rather than join the office workers in the strike. Without the support of the linemen, who had refused to work out of sympathy for the office workers, the entire strike collapsed.

During the strike, the company hired replacements for the office workers and refused to fire them to give the striking workers their old jobs once the walkout ended. Under the agreement that ended the strike, the former workers get first opportunity if their old jobs open up, but this has only happened to one worker, Mrs. Crain.

The strike started when the company couldn't agree to a contract with the workers' new union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW.) It ended when the company threatened to replace the linemen with "economic replacements" as they had done with the office workers.

The long strike was an economic burden on the workers, who were not able to get unemployment compensation until the strike ended, making them officially unemployed. It appears most of them are still unemployed.

"I'm not working," says Mrs. Hocquard, who during the strike was accused by the company of bad faith negotiating because she talked with local newspapers. With a background in accounting, she says, "If a good job came along, I'd consider it, but I thought I'd wait and see if I got called back."

Although she says it would be hard to go back to work for the co-op, "I'd try it because of my benefits." In her years with the company, she has accumulated five weeks paid vacation and numerous sick days, for which she will never be compensated if she doesn't go back to work there.

Another veteran employee was Will Roisen, who put in 21 years with Top O'Michigan. He said he is now doing odd jobs part-time, but hasn't found anything full-time. He said he might move out of the area if he doesn't find something by fall.

"We never dreamed it would turn into anything like it did," Roisen said. When asked if he would return to work at the company if called back, he said, "That's a hard question to answer."

For now, Roisen is looking at the bright side of his unexpected career change. "It feels kind of good to get a change in what I'm doing and get rid of some of the bitterness," he said.

Tom Schewe says, "I've never been a real strong union person," but after the strike started he soon became the group's leader. Looking back, he says, "If I had to go through it again, I never would. It's such a hassle."

But Schewe, a former engineer's assistant at the electric company, says he doesn't spend much time brooding over the past. "I don't even think about the place anymore," he said. "You can't look back; that's the way I look at it."

Would he ever return to the co-op? "I don't know," he said. "I have to make that decision when I come to it."

Schewe currently has a summer job working as an electric lineman in the Traverse City area. "It's food on the table," he says, but notes it's nothing permanent.

Immediately after the strike ended, Schewe, who has lived in Boyne City five years, said he might move. But now, at age 37, he says, "I'm getting old enough now so that I can't make too many more moves. I like it here."

Although the strike is over, a move to recall the board of directors continues, and some disgruntled co-op customers might slate candidates for the summer board election. "I hope the members vote at election time," says Hocquard, herself a member of the co-op.

Schewe is a bit less optimistic about the prospects of major changes in the electric company. "It will probably go right on like it always has," he said.

"People forget about things after a while."

Mixed emotion for rehired worker

BOYNE CITY - Preston Schomp is a man in a unique job position. When he goes to work in the morning, he does the same type of work he's done most of his life for the same company he's been with for four years.

But he feels as though he just started a new job.

And, in a way, he has. Schomp is working in a new building with mostly new colleagues. That's because there were many changes at Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Company in the five months that Meter Technician Schomp and 24 other office employees were on strike.

Schomp was the only striking worker to get his old job back. The company replaced the other strikers with new employees and, when the strike ended, refused to fire the new workers to give the strikers their old jobs back.

But as one of his former colleagues said, "They just couldn't replace Preston, so they had to offer him his old job back." Schomp fixes broken electric meters and does testing on others to make sure they're working right.

Schomp would have been expensive to replace. "It's specialized," Schomp says. "It's been my life's work. I started as a young man and took a lot of schooling."

After a few weeks back on the job, Schomp says, "It remains to be seen," what it will be like working with the people who were hired during the strike. "I'm out in the other building, so I don't have that much contact," he says. Schomp works by himself and is often on the road, so he has less contact with his fellow employees and company officials.

Schomp has mixed emotions about being back at work while his former fellow workers are looking for jobs or collecting unemployment compensation.

"It's a good feeling to be back," he said. "But you can't help but miss those people."
