

Weather

A pleasant week of spring weather, with daytime highs in the 70s and frost threatening some nights. This was followed by another perfect weekend, with highs in the low 80s and no precipitation, bringing boaters and swimmers to local beaches. Monday dawned with a much-needed gentle rain, forecast to continue off and on through Tuesday. Bridal wreath and honeysuckle are in bloom.

LAST YEAR: A cooler week, with highs in the 60s and 70s and some rain. Not many swimmers out yet, but boaters and jet-skiers have been enjoying the lakes.

EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN

Middle School gift will provide the breath of life

Members of the East Jordan Fire Department will breath a little easier thanks to a gift from some young civilians.

Members of the East Jordan Middle School student council met recently with fire department representatives to present a check for $300. The donation will be used to purchase spare tanks for SCBA (self contained breathing apparatus) gear.

"I thought it was a pretty community-minded thing to do," said middle school principal Shirley Bishop.

The fire department gift is just one of several good deeds performed by the group. They donated another $200 to a fund for Christmas decorations for the city, $250 for landscaping around the school, and $40 for loon nests on school property.

Teacher Gayle Gotts, who advises the group, said she gave them a list of possibilities for the cash raised during the past year. After additions, subtractions and a lot of discussion, the students made their choices.

The group raised the money through a number of activities, including a school carnival and dances.

Local school elections to be held June 13

Area school board members are all running unchallenged in the annual school elections Mon., June 13.

In Central Lake, two four-year board seats are open, but incumbents Kevin Gardner and Diane YoungeDyke will be unopposed on the ballot.

In East Jordan, school board vice-president Larry Chanda will be the only name on the ballot for his four-year seat.

In Ellsworth, incumbent Chet Drenth alone will seek the available three-year term.

Both Central Lake and Ellsworth school systems will seek approval of 18 mills on non-homestead property taxes.

Because the Headlee Amendment rolls back the 24-mill tax intended by Proposal A to 6 mills, many school districts have been forced to ask voters to approve the remaining 18 mills to achieve the total necessary for school operations.

Central Lake District Superintendent Lary Blamer stressed that the 18-mill levy would affect non-homestead property owners only, not primary residences.

In Ellsworth, the board will also request enhancement millage, totalling 3 mills (the maximum allowable):

■ A 1.5-mill request to continue to upgrade computers, hardware and textbooks.

■ Another 1.5 mills for building and site enhancement, to include upgrading or replacement of the 1935 boiler and heating plant.

Both enhancement requests will affect all property owners.

East Jordan Schools will not request the millage approval this year because a 25.6-mill levy approved in 1991 is still in place.

Superintendent Chip Hansen said the district has authority through the State Aid Act to continue collecting the millage.

Hansen noted that the district will have to ask for voter approval on the non-homestead property tax increase next year.

No primary necessary in East Jordan

Although several council seats and the mayor's office will be in contention in November, there will be no August primary ballot. Only two candidates have filed for each office.

Seeking the First Ward seat being vacated by Guy Vallance is John Michael Dionne and Dan McKinnon. Greg Chappuies will run as incumbent against Ron Klooster for an open Second Ward seat. In the Third Ward, incumbent Ruth Gee will face James Shively.

Seeking the mayor's office are Russ Peck, East Jordan's mayor for the past six years, and Michael Burr.

Foundation youth committee serves the community

Seven area programs that benefit young people got a nice financial boost recently, thanks to the Charlevoix County Community Foundation's Youth Advisory Committee.

Members of the committee recently awarded their first grants, totaling $7,000, to a variety of non-profit organizations and special projects (see box.)

For more than a year, 18 teens who make up the Youth Advisory Committee have been learning about philanthropy, surveying their peers and teachers to determine problems and needs, and thinking about ways to make life better for area kids.

East Jordan High School junior Belgie Caballero chairs the committee.

"This is a chance for us to help make a real impact on our community," she said. "It's cool to have the money to spend on young people - it's just like we're doing it for ourselves."

Three students from each Charlevoix County high school make up the committee. Also representing East Jordan are junior Ben Banfield and sophomore Anna Salinas.

The students meet monthly to discuss common issues, develop community leadership skills, and assist in the foundation's fundraising and philanthropic efforts.

All three East Jordan students said they enjoyed the experience.

"It's for a good cause and it's fun," said Banfield.

"It's important work that makes me feel good," Salinas agreed. "I like how it affects people I know, even here at our school."

In preparing for their first grant making venture, the committee surveyed 850 students from throughout the county, and talked to teachers and other adults to find out more about community needs.

From their survey findings, the students ranked youth concerns in this order: drunk driving, lack of recreational activities, alcohol and drug abuse, juvenile crime, teen pregnancy, and conservation and environmental issues. In their final choices, the committee made an effort to address as many of these concerns as possible.

According to Robert Tambellini, executive director of the foundation, youth involvement is a big part of what the community foundation is all about.

"These students are learning how to become leaders, how to advocate for programs that are important to them, and how to invest wisely in their community," he explained. "We're really proud of what they've accomplished."

EAST JORDAN HIGH SCHOOL students Ben Banfield, Belgie Caballero and Anna Salinas are making a difference in their community as members of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation Youth Advisory Committee.

Projects selected for funding by the Charlevoix County Community Foundation Youth Advisory Committee

- The Castle Farms Project, $1,000 to be used by the Charlevoix County Friends of 4-H, Inc. toward the purchase and renovation of Castle Farms as a community center
- Beaver Island Community School, $600 to help establish a Red Cross swim instruction program
- Charlevoix County LOVE for Children, $1,600 to help link adult volunteers with at-risk children and families
- Raven Hill Discovery Center, $1,200 to purchase two exhibits for the hands-on science museum
- Charlevoix High School, $100 to help defray costs for all-night, post-prom activities
- Northwest Council for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect, $1,500 for educational materials used for community awareness
- Charlevoix County Multiple Disciplinary Team, $1,000 to help fund a program for children and families who come before probate court

The youth grants are made possible through charitable gifts to the foundation and matching dollars given by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. Because of the generosity of local contributors, the foundation has qualified for more than $300,000 in matching Kellogg funds in the past year. That money is held in the foundation's permanent endowment, and the interest it generates is used to support programs for young people.

DAN MILLER

Editor's note: This is the part two of an article on bass fishing that began in the May 25 issue of the Torch / Journal.

Now, how to catch those critters? That is the fun part because at this time of year, bass will hit almost anything. Look for them in shallow water, less than say six feet or so.

Several factors will dictate just how deep the fish will be - water clarity, bottom content and bottom contour (the presence of overhead cover or lack of it.)

Largemouth like a bottom that is sandy, with some silt over the sand that they will sweep into a circle about the size of a car tire. If the water is clear the bass may be a bit deeper.

Smallmouth bass prefer a bottom with more gravel, or a gravel mixed with fist-sized rocks. Both species of fish like to have something they can get under, such as fallen logs or lily pads. The best way to find these fish is to have a good pair of polarized sunglasses and move about slowly over the shallows looking for sweep areas. If you have fished a lake in prior years and found spawning, fish these areas. Unless something has happened to the lake the spawning will be there again this year.

Right now these fish are very hungry and aggressive. The best baits are anything you can present to the fish successfully. Bass will hit on topwater baits, like floating minnows, soft jerks, poppers and bugs. They will also hit sub-surface baits such as worms, minnow baits like Rapala floating minnows or Rebel minnows.

Spinnerbaits such as the safety pin style or in-line such as Mepps or Blue Fox Vibrax work very well too. Jigs are also great baits, as you can place them on the bottom, right in front of the fish and force feed them if they happen to be just a bit negative in their feeding mode. Popular jigs include Kalin grubs, Stingray grubs, and other soft plastic baits such as Mr. Twister twin or single tails.

You don't have to worry about fishing early in the morning or in the late evening either. Bass will hit all day long at this time of year. This weekend should be a great one for catching some bass.

Sounds to me like it is time to get out and chase some down. I can promise you one thing - I will be. See you on the water!

Judged by Central Lake Fire Department members, the theme of this year's contest was "The Stars of Life."

Second-place winner of a $25 cash prize was Elliot Shay, while third place and $15 went to Curtis Hopp.

Winning posters are on display at Central Food Center in downtown Central Lake.

"We want to thank all the kids for their participation. They really did a great job," a Bellaire LifeLink staff representative said.

There were lots of people in the area over Memorial Day. It was a nice weekend to enjoy the outdoors.

Randy and Lee Sage and children Jennie and John Randolph of Belding visited Kay Sage at Munson Hospital Memorial Day. Randy was here earlier in the week during Kay's surgery.

Jack Sage, Jr. was a weekend visitor of his grandmother Eileen Sage. They visited Kay Sage at Munson Hospital. He also got in some bass fishing.

Jerry and Vesta Stallman of Suttons Bay were weekend visitors of Miller, Frances, and Josie Young. On Saturday they took a drive through the Jordan Valley.

Jim Asquith is here from Forest Lake, Minn. visiting his mother Lula Asquith and relatives. Also there are Patton relatives in the area.

Mike McPherson and daughter Jill and Dorothy Westover were in Orchard Lake over the weekend to visit Mike's parents Orin and Alice McPherson. Alice was a hospital patient. They also were in Hazel Park where a park was dedicated to Orin John (Jack) McPherson by the Boy Scouts. Orin John worked with Boy Scouts many years.

Lula Asquith and son Jim were visitors of the Miller Young family Wednesday afternoon.

Sat., May 28, family gathered at the home of John and Eloise Litwaitis to celebrate the birthdays of grandsons Justin DeWitt, Spencer Galloup and Grandma Eloise. Others joining the celebration were: Fin and Connie Galloup and family, Mike and Chris Meadows and sons, Candyce James, Stacey DeWitt, Jeff Stillwell, Gary, Lyon and Erikka Livingston.

Kay Sage is a surgical patient in Munson Hospital.

Visitors of Ed Samlin this week were his son Gary Samlin and granddaughter and husband Patricia and Robert Ambrose from Albuquerque, N.M.

Remember when . . .

. . . Burger Foods was a productive pickle factory, where Ager Heating is now?

The contracted and processed pickles from area farmers who raised cash crops.

My dad put in many long hours for 11 years. He contracted, worked in the factory and was responsible for workers from as far away as Texas and Mexico.

Not only did he enjoy the work, but because of a second family late in life, he found it necessary to work at a rigid pace until age 70. At retirement (semi) he still didn't quit, but raised acres of crops as well as cutting many, many cords of firewood. He enjoyed the company of a neighbor, John Jansen.

At age 70, he still had a boy in high school and one in sixth grade. He lived to see six grandchildren from these two late offspring and outlived my mother by a year and a half. Thanks, Dad.

We hope that the beautiful Memorial Day weekend weather pleased Burnice Juday as much as it did us. She was recently expected back in Central Lake from Tucson, Arizona. We heard she was a little worried when she found out it snowed just a few weeks ago!

Looks like Sneakin's Roadhouse (the new establishment on the corner of M-88 and US-31) is doing a brisk business. Caught a glimpse of an overflowing parking lot there the other day.

Early on a recent morning a silent wall of fog shrouded Central Lake like a smoke ring. The sun was shining through the center and all around the edges, but the fog was too dense to notice!

IF YOU'VE PICKED up your copy of this year's Centurion – the annual publication spotlighting the Central Lake area – you may have read Ruth Bainum's story urging everyone to take part in the village's Oct. 8 Color Time Tours. The indefatigable CL promoter sent us the piece from her winter home in Florida, so we were unable to check what we assumed was a missing word in her summary of the tour's route, which originally read, "... spectacular views of the countryside, plus Overlook Valley – home of the white deer."

Since no one could provide any insight into that unusual statement, we helpfully added the word "tail" after white, producing an animal we all recognized.

As it turns out, however, Ruth meant just what she said. At least two full-grown white deer have been spotted in the valley over the past years. Ruth says they're unafraid of humans, they're not albinos, and not native to this area.

P.S: Now that we know such a creature exists, we're eager to offer photographic proof right here on these pages. (Ruth and family snapped several great shots, only to find no film in the camera when they got home!) If you have – or acquire – a picture of one of these rare local deer, call Mary or Margie at 533-8523.)

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Denying Ourselves for Christ

"And he said to them, 'If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.'"
- Luke 9:23

That was a strict charge Jesus placed on His disciples. They, in effect, were to forego their own lives to follow in His steps and echo the words He so lovingly taught them to those whom they would convert. The charge still stands. There can be no true faith without acceptance of the Christ and the precepts He laid out for us to follow. Love, charity, self-denial and belief in the one supreme God are challenges that try even the most devout, yet it is through adherence to those ideals that we too can daily shoulder our personal crosses in the service of Jesus.

Lake Country Garden Club news

Did you see the ladies on their knees at the east entrance to the village on State Street last Friday? It was the Lake Country Garden Club helping to make Central Lake more beautiful!

Before the big day, Superintendent of Public Works Ron Donaldson and crew brought in top soil and smoothed it out as well as moving a shrub. The four members who purchased and planted on "Planting Day" were Gerri Bean, Marge Best, Barb Simowski and Malinda Lowrance.

Many heads turned as people drove by, and horns were honked in recognition. One woman stopped and inquired. When she found out we were from the Lake Country Garden Club, she said, "I thought so," and pushed a five dollar bill into our hands. When we asked her who she was, she said, "I don't have a name this morning." The club wants to thank the village and its people for their great support!

The next monthly meeting will be Mon., June 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Congregational Church on State Street. Mr. Burt Stanley, Antrim County Extension agent, will speak on "Soil Composition."

Alcohol and boating don't mix

Now that summer is here, many Michigan residents will take to the waterways with their speedboats, jet-skis and other watercraft. However, fun on the water can turn into folly or even disaster, when boat operators drink alcohol.

Twenty-seven boaters died in Michigan waters in 1993 and over half of those incidents involved alcohol. While the death toll seems modest, the odds of being killed while boating are 18 times the odds of dying in a motor vehicle crash!

Drunken boaters can crash into other vessels or fixtures in the landscape. They must also be concerned about fatigue from sun or weather; inexperience with high-powered boats or being "rusty" early in the season; and drowning, should anyone fall overboard.

Nationwide, four people die each year for every 100,000 registered watercraft. Michigan boaters did a little better in 1993, with 3.1 deaths per 100,000 watercraft. Considering that Michigan's motor vehicle fatality rate was a very low 0.17 deaths per 100,000 vehicles in 1992, the boating fatality rate is something to be concerned about.

High-speed boats, discourteous practices and fatigue all figure into a disaster on the water, but alcohol is the biggest contributing factor.

In 1993, Michigan implemented a law to more strictly penalize people who operate watercraft while impaired or under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Under the new law, boat operators are impaired with a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of 0.07 or more, and under the influence with 0.10 BAC or more.

These levels are the same as for motor vehicle operators, and the penalties are similar including possible suspension of boating privileges.

In addition, all boaters using public waterways must submit to a breathalyzer or chemical test when requested by a law enforcement officer.

Perhaps the second-most important safety precaution on the water is to use a personal flotation device (PFD). As of April 1, 1994, PFDs became required equipment for all children under age six in a boat that is underway. In 80 percent of boating fatalities, the victim was not wearing a PFD.

Boating Safety Week underway

During the week of June 5-11, the National Safe Boating Council urges all boaters to boat smart, boat safe, and boat sober.

Boat smart: Know your vessel's capacity; know the rules of the road.

Boat safe: Carry an approved personal safety device for each passenger and other appropriate safety equipment.

Boat sober: Don't drink and drive. Alcohol contributes to more than 50 percent of boating accidents each year.

Boaters may bring their vessels to the public docks in Charlevoix for a free safety examination.

Each year since National Safe Boating Week was instituted by an act of Congress in 1958, the number of recreational boaters has increased; and more boating accidents keep occurring annually.

Since Michigan has more registered boats than any other state, it is especially important that Michigan boaters observe safe boating practices.

Saving wildlife and wild places

Human survival depends on the conservation of wild plants and animals because nature is a vital source of cures and treatments for human illnesses, according to new research by America's largest conservation education organization.

"When people oppose the principles of good stewardship found in the Endangered Species Act, they often talk about the costs, but they never talk about the priceless benefits we get back from nature," said Larry Schweiger, Senior Vice President for Constituent Development and Conservation Action at the National Wildlife Federation.

You'll find the proof in your local pharmacy," Schweiger said, pointing out that 40 percent of today's prescriptions contain substances initially found in wild plants and animals. "Nature helps support a $40 billion pharmaceutical industry and, of course, saves millions of lives."

Some examples of the medicinal benefits obtained from animal and plant species are: the rosy periwinkle, a threatened Madagascar wildflower which supplies a cure for childhood leukemia; and the horseshoe crab, which produces proteins used to detect a potentially fatal bacteria affecting over 10,000 people each year.

Unfortunately, the destruction of wildlife and plant habitat has triggered an unnatural wave of extinctions that gravely threatens humanity's "savings account" of natural substances.

"We are losing species faster than we have time to clinically examine them," Schweiger said. "As more species become extinct, we may be losing potential cures for diseases like cancer and AIDS."

Less than 10 percent of the world's known plant species and only a fraction of animal life have been screened for medicinal values. More than two-thirds are found in tropical rainforests, which are being destroyed at an estimated rate of 41.7 million acres a year.

"Just as we depend on our local drug stores for prescriptions when we're sick, we should conserve nature's pharmacy for future generations," Schweiger said. "The Endangered Species Act is our most important tool for the conservation of nature."

The National Wildlife Federation is the nation's largest conservation education organization.

Founded in 1936, the Federation works to educate and assist individuals and organizations to conserve natural resources, and to protect the Earth's environment.

Mancelona Boys second in Class C District

The Ironmen of Mancelona extended their baseball season to the championship game of the Class C District in Charlevoix June 4, only to be frustrated in the final game.

The day began with Mancelona having its way with host Charlevoix, 12-1, Brian Lanning tossing a three-hitter with support coming from Rick Spires in the form of a three run homer, three hits and a trio of RBIs from Tom Castle, and a three run blast by Brian himself to finish the game.

In the final, both squads came up with five hits, but while Mancelona scattered theirs about, Boyne City put them together with three untimely errors from the Ironman defense, leading to both runs for the Ramblers.

Boyne scored in the top of the first and seventh, a walk and two base error getting the second run in. Mancelona had its chances, loading the bases with one out but failing to score. Jason Brooks got the win for Boyne City, David Lanning tagged with the loss for Mancelona.

"We came out smoking in the first game, but didn't put anything together in the second. It's a depressing way to end, two runs shy of going to regionals," summed up coach Lynn Bielecki.

Pitchers' duel goes to Bellaire

Led by Chandra LaPointe's near perfect pitching, Bellaire took advantage of two opportunities and made them work, winning the girls softball District final 4-1 over a capable Ellsworth squad.

The district began with Ellsworth and Central Lake squaring off for the right to play the Lady Eagles. Central Lake began with a first inning run on a Julie Aenis walk. Amy Dawson was hit by a Jenny VanderArk pitch, then Laura Murray provided an RBI double for the early lead.

Ellsworth recovered with two in the first, Angie Peterson walked and stole two bases, Lisa Essenberg singling and stealing a base. VanderArk then helped herself with a two-run single and the 2-1 lead.

Central Lake never backed down, scoring again in the second, this time with two outs. Heather Springstead and Elissa Wagner singled, Sara Roach's ground ball then being thrown away for two runs and a 3-2 Trojan lead.

Lancer Ladies got the game equal in the third, Jennifer McPherson walking then scoring. Central Lake inched ahead again in the fourth on a walk to Heidi Guntzviller and RBI single from Julie Aenis, only to have the Lancers retie the game in the sixth, Faith Drenth reaching on catcher's interference, Megan Boss sacrificing her up, and Renee Cebulski delivering a clutch RBI single to tie the game.

In the 10th inning, two outs and another wild pitch later, Boss was at third and McPherson at the plate facing a 1-2 pitch. The ball skittered past the Central Lake catcher, and Ellsworth had claimed a 5-4 win in ten innings.

VanderArk struck out 14, Aenis six in the game, with Central Lake leaving 21 on base to 11 for the Lancers.

For five innings in the Bellaire game the best

Ellsworth could do against Chandra LaPointe was a bouncer past the shortstop for an error, and ten strikeouts. A two-out fly to center that popped out of the glove was ruled a hit in the official books. Jennifer McPherson singled in Peterson with the lone Lancer run. That wasn't enough, because by this time the Eagles had made a 4-0 lead for themselves.

Bellaire got started in the third inning with Sarah McDonald's leadoff walk. Bethany Craig bunted and reached first safely, a wild pitch moving both runners up. Two outs later, Katie Goodwin slapped a single up the middle to score with ease, Eagles 2-0.

Bellaire added two more in the fifth, Bethany Craig starting this rally with a single. Wendy Arnsnoe then walked, prompting a sacrifice bunt from Becky Farmer allowing Craig and Arnsnoe to score and Bellaire to lead, 4-0.

In the seventh, Ellsworth started off with a grounder deep to the hole in short, where Goodwin grabbed the ball and got the out. A strikeout was followed by a dropped pop fly to put Jodee Alfred on base, but a final pop fly to Danielle Edger at first ended the game and starts the Eagles hopes for a regional title, 4-1.

Officially, LaPointe walked none, gave up two hits and struck out 12, while VanderArk finished with three walks, three hits and nine strikeouts.

Bellaire will participate in the regionals at Central Lake Sat., June 11, time to be determined, with Gaylord St. Mary's meeting Buckley and Bellaire tackling Lake Leelanau St. Mary's.

Shays shine at Honor Roll meet

Ryan Shay ran away with a pair of wins during the Traverse City Honor Roll meet May 31.

Central Lake's Shay captured his favorites, the 1600 in 4:28.6, and the 3200 in 9:44.

Sarah Shay took second in the 1600 run, 5:38.97, and fourth in the 3200 relay, 12:24.68.

Ellsworth heads for regionals

Ellsworth used its tough tandem of power pitchers to work its way through the baseball district, earning a shot at another regional title for the Lancers and coach Hugh Campbell.

The Lancers baseball squad had to deal with an ornery Central Lake Trojan squad to start on June 4, and the Trojans were anxious to try the upset, using Damian Lockhart walk, Chad Pletcher single and Steve Viger RBI single to take the 1-0 lead.

Eric Seese countered for the Lancers with a walk, stolen base-advance on the throw, scoring on a Mike Warner groundout to tie the game after one inning.

Central Lake responded, putting two on for Chad Pletcher to double home, but only one would score, the second ruled out for missing third. Still up 2-1, Central Lake's upset hopes disintegrated in the bottom of the second when the Lancers scored seven times. Jeremy Peterson started the inning with a solo home run, Eric Seese following three walks with a two-run single, Koivisto adding a two-run double as the Lancers got the lead and held off a late Trojan surge to win, 10-5.

Jared Lucas got the win, tossing a seven-hit, six-strikeout game, Chad Pletcher finishing the year with a five-strikeout game for Central Lake.

Ellsworth wasted no time taking it to the Bellaire Eagles, shutting Bellaire off in the first, then scoring three times. Eric Seese singled, Mike Warner singled, then Matt Seese hit a ball that turned into a two-run error, later scoring for a 3-0 lead.

Bellaire scratched a run back in the second, Tim Flanagan scoring after reaching on an error, driven home by John McKaig's single.

Ellsworth scored three more in the fifth, Warner coming home on a bad throw to the plate, Scott Cooper singling, and Jared Lucas delivering a two-run double. Losing pitcher Heath Meir scored Bellaire's last run on a walk, two steals and a passed ball in the top of the seventh. Tim Koivisto pitched the Ellsworth win, striking out 15.

The 6-2 win sends Ellsworth back to Central Lake Saturday for regional action with Gaylord St. Mary's, TC St. Francis and Leland coming to town for a try at the regional crown June 11.

The best of the best: Top students for EJHS '94

Readers may have already met East Jordan High School's premiere scholars – the Valedictorian and Salutatorian for the Class of 1994 – who appeared on the front page of our June 1 issue. But because this special pull-out keepsake section is our official commemorative tribute to their class and its achievements, we are reprinting the original article here.

East Jordan High School names top scholars

The top students of the Class of 1994 at East Jordan High School were announced recently.

Valedictorian honors went to Kari Lynn Snyder with a grade point average of 3.91.

Daughter of Bob and Linda Snyder, she has been active in basketball, softball and volleyball through her high school years, is a member of SADD, National Honor Society, drama and student council. Snyder served as treasurer for student council, as well as treasurer of her senior class.

Snyder was named in Who's Who Among American High School Students and has been the recipient of the Hope Presidential Scholarship, a State of Michigan scholarship and the Gidley Scholarship.

Kari Lynn Snyder

Along with her many school activities, Snyder works at Juilleret's in Charlevoix, is active in her church youth group and enjoys skiing and playing any sports she can find time for. Snyder plans to attend Hope

Kimberly Lyn Goebel

College in Holland this fall.

Named as salutatorian is Kimberly Lyn Goebel, daughter of Phil and Sue Goebel.

This year's Homecoming Queen, Goebel has been a four-year cheerleader and member of the softball team. She was also an active member of East Jordan bands and musicals. Goebel was editor of the school newspaper her junior year, and president of SADD her senior year. She is the youngest senior to ever graduate from East Jordan High School.

Goebel works at Glen's Market in East Jordan and enjoys reading, listening to music, writing poetry and playing the drums in her spare time.

She will attend Central Michigan University, majoring in pre-optometry. Goebel is the recipient of a Board of Trustees Academic Scholarship from CMU.

Both Snyder and Goebel will be speakers when the Class of 1994 graduates at Boswell Stadium, Sat., June 4, at 7 p.m.

Memories

By Pam Kirts

The Ellsworth Tradesman

May 20, 1926

■ The Annual County Sunday School Convention will be held in Bellaire May 26 and 27.

■ Dr. G.W. Bechtold of East Jordan has installed an X-ray machine in his dental office. This machine is capable of taking "bone pictures" of any part of the body. A good X-ray machine is very expensive but Dr. Bechtold feels there is enough demand for such machine in East Jordan and vicinity to warrant the expenditure.

■ A number of friends and relatives met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Williams Sunday, the occasion being the 81st birthday of Mr. Williams.

■ The Senior class play, Go Slow Mary given Tuesday evening, was one of the best school plays ever presented here.

■ Gerrit Steenhagen Sr., Miles District, has been laid up with lumbago the past week.

■ Miss Beatrice Wieland, Ellsworth, entertained a few of her friends with a bountiful four-course dinner Friday evening. The table was artistically decorated with yellow and green. The dinner was enjoyed very much and all left in a jolly mood.

■ H. Torngas, Ellsworth, are the proud owners of a new piano purchased from Grinnell of Traverse City.

■ Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lilburn Walker a baby girl, May 18. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Oosterbaan, a son. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Patterson, May 17, a daughter.

The Central Lake Torch

May 18, 1950

■ John DeForest, 37, of Central Lake was accidentally electrocuted Monday morning in Bellaire, when his power shovel came in contact with a 23,000 volt highline.

■ A bridge grafting demonstration will be held at the Arnold

Redman orchard just north and to the east of Kewadin next Monday, says Walter G. Kirkpatrick, County Agricultural Agent.

■ John DeVries, of Ellsworth, Otto Peterson, of Kewadin and Ted Smith, of Bellaire, recently visited Detroit as guests of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

■ Ester May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Johnson of Eastport, and Eugene Dewey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dewey of Bellaire, were united in marriage at the bride's home May 13.

■ Marguerite J. Aardema, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Aardema, Central Lake, will graduate with a bachelor of arts degree from Hope College, June 14.

■ John Foster, 54, retired captain on the Detroit Fire Department, living at Hopkins Beach near Eastport, west of Central Lake, shot and killed his wife, Florence, Sunday and then killed himself with a 12-gauge shotgun.

■ David Donaldson, Miles District, is having the measles.

■ Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burns celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary May 12.

■ The Poppy posters made recently by pupils of the Banks Township School are on display at the John's Health Center Store.

The Ellsworth Tradesman

May 27, 1926

■ About 45 friends were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Horrenga, May 21 being their 35th Wedding Anniversary.

■ The farm home and contents of Chester Donaldson, living three miles northeast of Ellsworth, was destroyed by fire about noon Sunday. The family was at a neighbors and knew nothing of the fire until the residence was in ashes.

■ Fred Bancroft, Miles District, bought a manure spreader from the Ellsworth Hardware a short time ago.

■ The road through Atwood will be upgraded this summer; they have started hauling crushed stone for the job.

■ Word was received in Atwood that the home of Ralph J. Vanderheide of Grand Rapids was destroyed by fire and most all of the furniture consumed by the flames.

■ Horseshoe or, as it is often called, barnyard golf, seems to be the popular game on the school grounds at present and many thrilling games may be seen. School champions have not as yet been picked.

■ May 20th some ice and snow in Antrim City.

■ We will now publish Peter Drenth's favorite poem which he composed one day last week:

In Ancient History I am dumb,

Its dates I find a bore,
So far as I know
Caesar died in 1864.

But Current History I like,

I find the subject great,
For never yet with any girl

Have I forgot a date.

■ School in Pleasant Hill closed Monday May 17 with a picnic. A large crowd was there and it was enjoyed by everyone. The teacher, Mr. Stradinger, returned to his home in Mancelona Tuesday evening.

The Central Lake Torch

■ The Central Lake High track team coached by Scott Bothwell won second place at the regional meet held at Cadillac last Saturday. There were 11 teams entered.

■ In keeping with their celebration of "Atwood Days" this weekend, the Atwood Thrift Market has just recently installed a new refrigerated open-top type dairy case at their Atwood store.

■ Thieves attempted to steal an automobile in Central Lake Sunday night, but were thwarted in their attempt by poor judgment.

While inside Rendell's store the car, belonging to Mrs. Dick Blasey and her mother Mrs. Jack Bosworth, which had the keys left in it, was backed out into the street, drove through the store's driveway, and attempted to turn toward the bridge. However the car wouldn't turn sharp enough and ended up on the south side of the road, with both left wheels hanging over the bank of the lake.

■ Miss Hildred Stafford of Central Lake became the bride of W.H. Mattison of Elk Rapids on May 18 at the Eastport Baptist Church.

■ Several friends and neighbors attended a party at the home of Mrs. Fred Slack, Echo District. A very delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

■ Merrill McPherson and son Bob of Walled Lake arrived at the Guy McPhersons, Eastport, Thursday evening. They are installing a new electric pump and water system in their basement home. Didn't you notice Arnold and Curgy smiling? "The pumping days are over!"

■ Ila Ingells, Miles District, is having the measles this week.

■ Mr. and Mrs. Herman Heeres celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary May 17 at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Heeres of Bentley Hill, which was their former home for 37 years before moving to Ellsworth.

Shay second twice at state

Ryan Shay's two second-place finishes were enough to get the Central Lake boys a tie for 15th place overall at the State Track Meet June 4 in Class D, with Bellaire tied for 33rd on the strength of Jeremy VanSices efforts.

Shay took second in the 1600, running 4:25.87, and second in the 3200, timed at 9:41.69, for the Trojan scoring on the boys side. Jeremy VanSice cooked up all of Bellaire's scoring with a fifth place in the 300 hurdles, timed at a 41.18 clocking.

Prevent heartworm

Heartworm is a blood-borne parasite which is spread from dog to dog by mosquitoes. Adult heartworms live in a dog's heart and major blood vessels where they cause extensive damage and eventual death.

Prevention is the preferred method of protecting your dog from this lethal parasite. A simple blood test in early spring to determine if your dog is free of heartworm, followed by preventive medication during mosquito season, is strongly recommended.

Call your veterinarian today to make an appointment to have your dog tested.

Drill team wins

The Northern Lights drill team of Ellsworth returned home as state champions from a weekend in Ann Arbor and Detroit.

On May 21, the junior team took fourth place and the juvenile team took second place at the Showteam and Pom-pom Championships in Ann Arbor.

Members Stephanie Rubingh, Julie Essenberg and Breanna German took first place trophies in individual events in their age groups. Breanna was named state champion in individual show routine for the third year.

May 22 at Detroit-Metro Airport's luxurious Royce Hotel, the junior team won the Michigan state championship title for troupe modeling in the Premier's Performing Arts State Championships.

The team was also awarded blue ribbons for their dance performed to Elvis Presley's Jailhouse Rock.

The Northern Lights' next performance will be at the Mancelona Bass Festival. In 1993, the team was awarded Best in Show and People's Choice at the festival.

The team instructor is Dawn German.

Laura Warren

Local student to attend Interlochen

Laura Warren, 10, daughter of Robert and Karen Donaldson of East Jordan, has been accepted at Interlochen Arts Camp this summer.

She will be among 1,400 students from the United States and 35 other countries studying the arts. Her courses of study will include art, voice, and theatre.

Laura is an experienced performer who has been singing at churches and community events since age five, and has been in a dozen area plays and musicals including The Wizard of Oz and The Sound of Music at Old Town Playhouse in Traverse City.

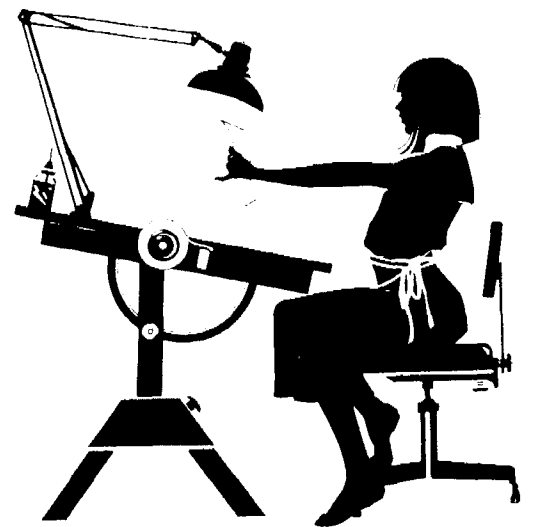

The fifth grader also enjoys modeling locally and recently posed for her first print ad in the nationally distributed Discovery magazine.

In her spare time, Laura enjoys writing mysteries and poetry, computers and playing with her friends. She already has future goals which include doing commercials and musical theatre, and becoming a doctor.

Day of the Eagle Pow-wow

ODAWA DANCER Mnu-kaa-sa (Steve Antoine of Kewadin) proudly wears his ornate tribal regalia. He was one of about 200 dancers who took part in the annual East Jordan event held by the Anishanabe Inter-Tribal Council. Organizers expected about 5,000 spectators at the three-day gathering June 3-5.

EAST JORDAN teacher Paula Vollbach and friends were among the many spectators who accepted the invitation to join with traditional Native American dancers.

20th annual Second Chance Shoot coming

Just when you thought the annual Second Chance Shoot has been going on since the creation of fire and water ... it's been only 20 years. For some of Richard Davis' Muckle Road and Bunker Hill Road neighbors it has been every minute of 20 years!

Alas, the Second Chance Shoot again erupts for the annual eight-day long bonanza of fun and shooting for the 400-plus registered competitors, and an early season economic punch for Central Lake businesses ... in town and around the surrounding lakeside resorts.

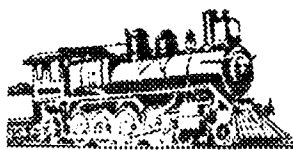

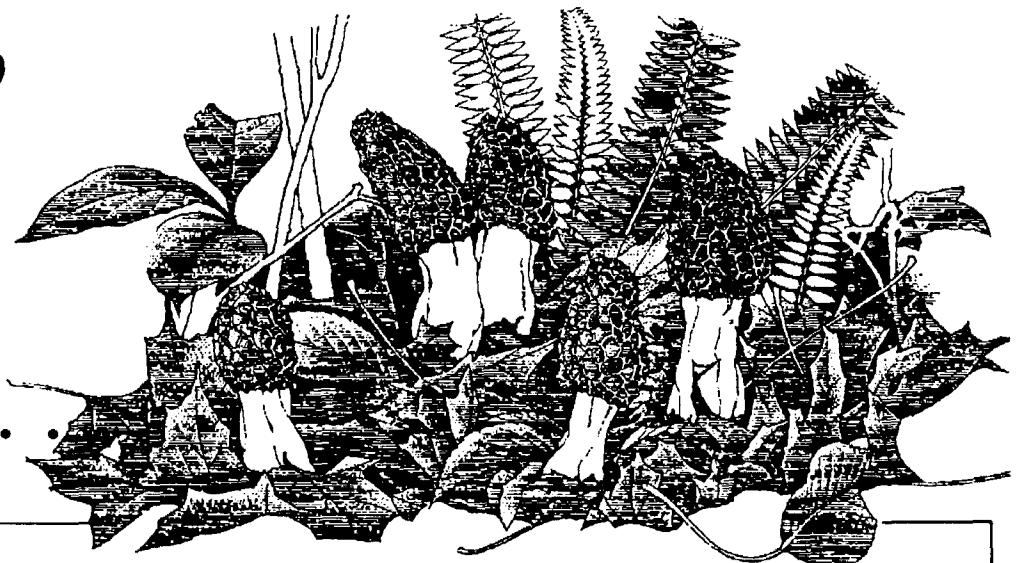

The adventure begins Fri., June 10, with local citizens invited to the opening day festivities of local competition and tummy stuffing munchies.

Central Lake Lions and Lionesses will be serving food during the days of competition and will be ready with lunch starting at noon on Friday, and later on in the day with dinner for all attending that day. There is no charge for admittance on Friday and the food is free.

Richard and Karen Davis welcome their neighbors to partake in this one-day affair. Starting Sat., June 11, and continuing throughout the next week, the Davis property will be restricted to registered shooters, their paying guests and the Shoot work staff. Off-duty Antrim County deputies will be patrolling the entrance gates and Davis property to ensure the security measures set for this event.

On Fri., June 17, the Shoot Awards Program will close the festivities for '94. Shortly thereafter, the long gun and handgun noise will abate, the dust will settle, and the Central Lake area will return to regular summertime activities.

Trip to Korea a life-changing experience

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

Kim Scott found a unique and exciting way to escape the last blows of winter this year - she went to Korea.

On March 21, the Central Lake High School junior flew to Seoul, South Korea. She stayed for three weeks with her friends Robin and Lee Parsons, who teach at an American school there.

Although Scott was born somewhere in Korea, her purpose for going wasn't exactly to find her roots.

"I just wanted to see what it was like," she said. "And I wanted a vacation!"

She also got an education. Adopted daughter of Dave and Bev Scott of Pleasant Valley, Kim doesn't have any clues about her background before her parents took her home at the age of about three months. The trip was an opportunity for her to be part of the ethnic majority for the first time in her life.

Visiting a city of 14 million people was also a learning experience for the small-town girl.

"It was very fast-paced and crowded," said Scott. "Also very polluted, even though people were always cleaning the streets and sidewalks."

But Scott said she really liked the convenience of city life. And unlike common experiences in large American cities, she felt quite safe.

"There were small kids alone on the subways," she observed. "We even rode subways and walked around safely at night."

The opportunity to visit Seoul came when the Scotts met the Parsons at church in their former home town of Evart.

The Parsons had just returned from a teaching stint in Mexico and were headed for Korea. They invited Kim to visit them.

She paid her own way - no easy task, considering the airline ticket alone was $1,200. But by baby-sitting, both privately and at Boyne Mountain resort, and by borrowing some money from two of her three brothers (she has since paid them back), Scott was able to fund the trip.

She stayed at the school campus and played tourist, visiting many interesting sites including the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

"You could feel the tension there," she said, as she described how a dress code is required for visitors and how movements and photographs are restricted.

"It was very heavily secured, with a lot of military personnel on both sides," she explained.

Otherwise, Scott felt there was absolutely nothing negative about her trip. She was able to get away from the city into the mountains.

It was very beautiful there, she said, and the people live a more traditional lifestyle, wearing old-fashioned clothes. She saw very old Buddhist temples and priests in their orange robes.

Scott said the trip has really changed her perspective. She was planning on a career in business, but is now reconsidering her future. She feels she would like to go to Korea again, perhaps as a teacher.

Then, when she could stay longer, she might search for her birth parents, though it may be an impossible task.

She has also decided to learn to speak Korean, having learned a few words on her trip.

"I'd definitely like to live there," said Scott, who because of the trip of her life, may be changing the direction of her life's journey.
