

Weather

A perfect early summer week — daytime highs in the 70s, climbing to the 80s for the weekend. Precipitation nearing normal, with two of the week's three rainfalls coming during evening hours. Saturday and Sunday glorious — sunshine and blue skies with strong breezes building Sunday. Heavy rainfall through Monday morning; highs predicted in the upper 80s with plenty of humidity for the coming week. Iris, poppies and daisies are all in bloom.
Last year: Temperatures climbed from the upper 60s to near-90 in six days.

Beautifying East Jordan

E. J. implements personnel policy manual

Employees of the City of East Jordan now have a written guide on the responsibilities of serving the public.

The City of East Jordan Personnel Manual was officially implemented May 15, by unanimous resolution of the city council. Each employee signed a form confirming receipt of the manual. The form includes instructions informing employees of their responsibility to read the manual.

Failure to abide by the rules and regulations, whether by ignorance or extenuating circumstances "shall not absolve" the employee of those responsibilities.

The manual emphasizes that employees serve at the will of the city and employment may be terminated with or without cause, at any time, for any reason, by action of the city council or a council committee.

The document, considered a necessity by city officials to outline rights and responsibilities of city employment, was approved in November by DPW Teamsters Union Local 214 as part of their present contract. It also applies to any part-time or volunteer employee, as well as salaried positions.

Management and supervisory personnel will oversee the daily interpretation and administration of the policies, while the mayor and city council are responsible for overall management of the policies.

Drug free work place guidelines

A policy for a drug free work place was adopted into the manual despite protests from paid-per-job volunteer firefighters and other city workers. The manual justifies the policy as necessary for "the safety of our employees and the general public, the protection of public property and the protection of the goodwill of the public."

Prohibitions include:

- Engaging in illegal possession, manufacture, sale, delivery or use of a controlled substance whether on or off the job

Shirley Bishop appointed as EJMS principal

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

After an extensive search that considered more than 30 candidates from across the country, East Jordan school officials chose directly from the home team.

Shirley Bishop, the 1993-94 interim middle school principal succeeded in proving that she was the best person for the job.

Bishop has a background in both teaching and administration in diverse areas of the United States. She began her career in her home state of Alabama, teaching elementary classes at an inner city school in Mobile for six years.

After a year's sabbatical spent pursuing her doctorate at Auburn University, Bishop headed for adventure in Alaska, instead of returning to her job in Mobile. She spent a year teaching in a logging camp near Juno before she was hired into the Lower Yukon Schools, a vast district (22,000 square miles) on the Lower Yukon River where it enters the Bering Sea.

For 12 years Bishop served in various teaching and administrative capacities at Lower Yukon. She was instrumental in implementing the district's move into outcomes-based education.

"I saw the need for change," said Bishop. "We were doing the same old things and they weren't working."

The transformation of the district was tremendous, Bishop observed. Driven by OBE and mastery learning techniques, the curriculum was aligned, the parents became more involved, the school board empowered the teachers in the decision-making process, and teachers were more focused.

"The schools just came alive," she said.

Bishop and her husband, East Jordan High School Principal Gus Bishop, looked for a district that was committed to the OBE or ODDM (outcomes driven developmental model) process when they were ready to relocate away from Alaska last year.

Bishop is excited to be part of that commitment in East Jordan. She has ideas for continuing and improving the process, especially in communication with parents and the community.

"We need to do a better job conveying complete and accurate information," she said.

Bishop sees working on the administrative team with her own husband as an advantage; going home together gives them more time to communicate.

"We spend a lot of time talking about school," she said. In fact, she admitted they really only restrain themselves from such discussions when their daughter Jessica, 10, is around.

When Bishop took on the interim job after the resignation of Eivor Swan in December, she was told by District Superintendent Chip Hansen that she would not be considered for the permanent position. The school board was uncomfortable with a married couple filling two of three principal positions in the district.

But Hansen said the quality of her work had to make them reconsider.

"Mrs. Bishop's performance as our interim principal gave her additional credibility in the search process," Hansen said. "She was a proven administrator who had exhibited the kind of quality we were looking for."

Hansen said that the district has received very good feedback on the arrangement, from staff, parents and community alike.

The school board approved the appointment at a June 9 special meeting.

Linda Watson: a proud graduate of EJHS

BY DEB SAYGERS HOBBS
Torch/Journal Editor

Of the 71 proud and happy graduates at East Jordan High School June 4, perhaps the happiest and proudest of all was Linda Lou Dewitt Watson.

East Jordan adult education student Watson wishes she would have been a graduate about 33 years ago, but life, marriage and children intervened.

Two years ago, watching the class of '92 graduate, Watson made a promise to herself - she would complete the degree she had set aside those many years ago.

Watson worked through the Enterprise Learning Lab adult education center housed in the Jordan Valley Library basement, spending at least 56 hours of lab time for each of the eight classes she needed. The program also uses East Jordan High School facilities for science and biology courses, taught by Ken Zook and Bill Chase. Watson's other learning lab instructors were Patti Hodge and Terry Graham.

The two-year road was sometimes discouraging, Watson said. She credits her instructors, especially Hodge, with pulling her through.

"I sometimes got discouraged, but Patti always said, 'you can do it,'" said Watson.

Hodge feels Watson did it all herself.

"She worked hard - we just pinpointed the areas that needed the work," Hodge explained. "She never gave up."

The strong support of her husband Dale, her family and church group were also very important, especially when she suffered some ill health last year, missing over three weeks of school. With their help, instead of letting it set her back, she made up the time and kept on schedule.

"That does make me proud," she admitted modestly.

Watson has to be proud of her GPA also; it was a 3.7, putting her about even with the class salutatorian. She said she was surprised that she did so well.

"I always did poorly in school," she confessed of her former high school days.

Watson was also able to pass the MEAP tests, earning herself a state endorsement.

"I passed English and science the first time," she reported. But, like many students, she added, "math was the problem."

Hodge said Watson put in many extra hours until she mastered algebra.

Watson noted she didn't get any extra credit, but passing the math was "something I wanted." Eventually, she was able to add the MEAP math to her list of accomplishments.

One of Watson's original goals was to take advantage of the special right she earned; to wear cap and gown and graduate with the Class of '94.

So on that beautiful, sunny Saturday evening at Boswell Stadium, that is just what she did, beaming ear to ear as she received her diploma from the hands of School Board President Mary Jason.

Watson was very pleased with the way the class accepted her as one of their own.

"They're a good bunch of kids - they even invited me on their senior trip!" she laughed. And when she received her diploma, she got a big cheer from her class as well as the crowd.

Watson plans to continue her education, focusing on computer skills at the learning lab. She also intends to volunteer tutoring time for the adult reading program.

"I want to give back some of what I got," she said.

She also hopes to inspire other adults that it is never too late to complete their education. But even more than that, she hopes young people will learn from her what she learned the hard way.

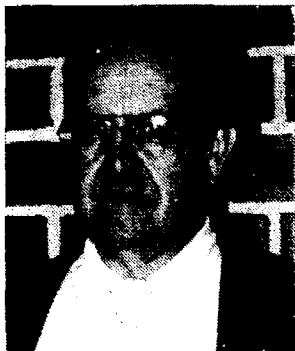

"Stay in school," she advised. "It's easier than trying to finish 35 years later!"

EJ Schools say goodbye to longtime teachers

Three long time East Jordan teachers closed the books for the last time as school closed for the summer.

High school perennial Al Anderson is retiring after 26 years at East Jordan. Originally from the Detroit area, Anderson was attracted to the area via his wife, East Jordan native Rose Donaldson, and because of childhood vacations on Six Mile Lake.

Anderson said he may stay in education, though not teaching. Other plans include pursuing his musical activities (he is an accomplished accordion player who performs professionally, travel and to "try to fish more."

During his tenure at EJHS, Anderson taught English, American studies, journalism and many types of history.

Teaching poetry is one of his favorite memories and he has collected work from many students over the years.

Karen Nipson has nurtured some 700 students during her 24 years at East Jordan Elementary School.

Having taken early retirement for health reasons, Nipson will now spend time nurturing herself.

Karen Nipson

East Jordan District Superintendent Chip Hansen said that Nipson will be deeply missed by staff and students alike.

"She was a special teacher - talented, caring, compassionate," said Hansen. "She'll be hard to replace."

Middle school teacher Bonnie Brunett is retiring after 15 years in the district. She has served in both the elementary and the middle school.

Brunett reportedly intends to do a lot of traveling in her newly acquired free time. Hansen said the district will miss Brunett's energy and commitment to excellence.

Health Department issues Rubella alert

Dr. Brian Youngs, Medical Director for the District Health Department No. 3 and No. 4, is alerting the public about a suspect case of rubella or German measles in the Onaway area.

Rubella is passed directly from person to person by direct contact or by contact with nose and throat secretions from coughing, sneezing, and talking. The disease is most contagious as the rash is appearing, but can be spread from one week before to five to seven days after the rash onset. Rubella may be transmitted by infected persons who exhibit no signs or symptoms. The period from exposure to actual onset of rubella symptoms, called the incubation period, varies from 14-23 days, with an average of 16-18 days. Children are apt to have a milder case of rubella than adults.

For rubella illness developed after birth, symptoms are often mild with 25-50 percent of cases having no signs or symptoms. In older children and adults, there is often one to five days of low-grade fever, tiredness, headache, conjunctivitis, runny nose, and upper respiratory tract symptoms preceding the rash.

Many individuals with rubella are not recognized as rubella disease. Rubella can be confused with many other rash illnesses; lymph nodes may begin swelling 5-10 days before the rash and remain swollen for several weeks; joint pain and temporary arthritis, which are uncommon in children, occur frequently in adults, especially in women; complications of rubella infection tend to occur more often in adults than in children and include arthritis and joint pain; swelling of the brain; problems with blood clotting; and congenital rubella syndrome. The syndrome occurs when a woman is affected during her pregnancy. Some common manifestations of the congenital rubella syndrome include: deafness; eye problems, including cataracts and glaucoma; congenital heart disease; mental retardation; and many others.

Rubella in a pregnant woman is a very serious problem. All women who want to become pregnant or are pregnant should know their rubella immune status. There is a vaccine (measles-mumps-rubella) that can prevent the illness. It is given to non-pregnant women. When a pregnant woman is exposed to rubella, or a similar illness, she should immediately contact her doctor.

Ellsworth coach wrapping up legendary career

COACHING HIS LAST high school baseball games at Hugh Campbell Field May 31, the coach said he's been too busy with end-of-the-year activities to reflect on his accomplishments.

BY KEITH MATHENY
ACN Staff Writer

ELLSWORTH — After coaching Ellsworth High School sports for 27 years, you might think Hugh Campbell would be getting emotional as the end of the line draws near.

You'd be wrong.

Campbell said he didn't even realize that the May 31 baseball games against Inland Lakes were the last high school sports events he would ever coach in Ellsworth.

"It hadn't dawned on me," he said. "Somewhere down the line, I'm sure it will."

As a good measure of his impact on high school sports in Ellsworth, Campbell's last home game was played on the ball diamond named after him.

Now he's hanging 'em up, after almost three decades of leading the boys basketball team; 15 years with the baseball team — and winning records in both sports. Campbell even reached the elite 300-win level in basketball (see box).

Campbell also retires this week after 30 years of teaching, the last 24 in Ellsworth. Coaching duties will wrap up when the boys baseball team finishes its run in the high school playoffs.

The self-deprecating Campbell said he's been too busy to reflect on his accomplishments.

"It's been so hectic," he said. "I'm just trying to get the year done, like any other year."

As his career winds down, accolades are sure to follow. Campbell was nominated for the Michigan High School Basketball Coach's Hall of Fame this spring. Hall of Fame nominations for his baseball coaching and overall coaching in the state are likely to come as well.

What started Campbell coaching in the late 1960s, and what kept him coaching all these years?

"Just working with the kids," he said.

While Campbell may not like to talk about himself, those whose lives he's touched have plenty to say.

Greg Strange of Ellsworth played for Campbell in 1972. His son Mike played for Campbell this year. Strange is glad both he and his son had the unique experience of playing for the same coach.

"I remember what a great job Hugh did coaching us," Strange said. "As my son Mike began to play for him, I would tell him, 'Pay close attention to what he says. He's a really good teacher of the game.'"

Strange, now a computer programmer on contract with the Allied Signal Corporation in Boyne City, has gotten to know Campbell over the years as more than a teacher or coach.

"He's a very human person," he said. "He's the kind of guy you enjoy being around in a social setting."

Strange summed up what he would always remember about "The Coach."

"He let everybody know exactly where they stood," he said. "Talent-wise, effort-wise, academically — he called a spade a spade."

"He never played favorites. If you went out there and did the best you could, you played ball."

Remember when . . .

. . . mother did her best under trying circumstances? I give thanks for my mother. Before she met Dad her name was Welch. She was happily married for a while and had three children, one who died of complications at 6 months. But in her mid-twenties she suffered a severe stroke and sometime later this marriage failed.

Several years later she met Ernest Byard, married and even though a stroke victim, had two more sons. Her white hair (perhaps from the stroke) made her appear older than her years. The stroke left her right arm dead, her right leg cumbersome, her speech was affected, and she could not always say what she was thinking, especially if interrupted, so at times was easily irritated. She served, cooked, washed, canned, cleaned, spanked, and loved her kids.

I share all this because maybe you know someone who has had a stroke and has become a prisoner in their own body. As a rule, people avoid those who are different, when not only do they need love and friendship but one may even learn from them. Have you ever seen a person change or bathe a baby with one hand; mix a cake, make bread, hang up clothes, sweep a floor, or make a bed? How about peel an apple, pit cherries, or peel potatoes? How thankful are we for our health, for our loved ones?

Mother's Day has gone by for 1994, my mother has been gone nearly 30 years, but I still remember. I know what I was taught, and I was loved. Thanks, "Ma."

Emily said her quilt took about 18 months of leisure work to complete.

She hopes to eventually make one for each of her six children!

Emily's work will help preserve historic sites in northern Michigan, so stop by and see this modern heirloom. A $2.50 donation is requested at the door.

Lance Corporal Agnew deployed

Marine Lance Cpl. David J. Agnew, son of Nancy C. Boehm of East Jordan, recently departed for a six-month Mediterranean deployment with the 26th Marine Expeditionary Unit, Camp Lejeune, N.C., as part of the aircraft carrier USS George Washington Joint Task Group.

More than 12,000 Atlantic Fleet Marines and sailors comprise elements of this JTG which includes units of the aircraft carrier USS George Washington Battle Group and the four-ship USS Guam Amphibious Ready Group.

The JTG is made up of cruisers, destroyers, frigates, attack submarines, support ships, and more than 85 aircraft, along with an amphibious assault ship, a tank landing ship, a dock landing ship and an amphibious transport dock.

Deploying with the Guam ARG are approximately 2,000 Marines from Agnew's special operations capable unit.

Modern Naval Expeditionary forces are unique national security assets. No other country has the flexibility or combat capability that the Navy Marine Corps team can provide our nation and its citizens, from the sea.

The 1991 graduate of Charlevoix High School joined the Marine Corps in May 1991.

A word fitly spoken: A Modern Fable

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Proverbs 22:06

"Honor thy Father ... " Exodus 20:12

Fathers, remember children do not go the "right way" by themselves. They need the grace of God and the love, prayers and guidance from their parents, teachers, and guidance counselors. Any or all are needed to direct a child in the "Everlasting way."

Guess who is of primary importance in the child's life? You, Father, though you are the "bread winner." Your children need some of your valuable, limited time and it takes discipline on your part and sacrifice too. Careers and jobs are important but gaining material things, though shared with the family are not as important as the family unit.

Each person needs to believe in a higher being. Many organizations treating addictions adhere to this philosophy and have 12 steps as a guide. Many, many more of us turn to Christ Jesus.

The Bible is full of the wisdom through parables. There is an account of every problem and affliction known to man. Trust in the Lord, God answers our prayers. But we must be patient for His time is different than ours. We must also remember He is Holy and omnipotent and He is the giver of blessings, but He also chastises us for our own good. Fathers correct and discipline their children. Well, we are God's children and He stresses obedience with love.

Once there was a little boy and when he was a few weeks old, his parents turned him over to a babysitter. At two they dressed him up to look like a cowboy and gave him a gun and at age three everyone said, "How cute" as he lisped a beer commercial jingle.

Now at six his father occasionally dropped him off at Sunday school on the way to the golf course. At eight the child in this modern story was presented with a BB gun and taught to shoot sparrows. At ten years, he spent his after school time squatting at a drugstore newstand reading comic books for the mother wasn't home and his father was too busy.

Reaching 13, he convinced his parents that the other kids' parents let them do this or that and stay out late so they gave in because it was easier that way. At 14 they allowed him to have a car and through connections they wrangled a real drivers license and told him to be careful. Then at 15 he got into trouble. The police called his home one night and said "We have your young boy. He's in trouble". The father screamed "In trouble? It can't be my boy!"

On this Father's Day may there be understanding and a renewed closeness between father and children, new reverence and obedience to God's Word. Pray together, forgive one another and make happy memories!

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

God Strengthened Their Hearts

"Be strong, and let your heart take courage, all you who wait for the Lord."

— Psalm 31:24

It was said during World War II that there were no atheists in foxholes. We can take comfort from that thought as we once again memorialize those who have fallen in the nation's conflicts. The men and women who made the supreme sacrifice were no different from you and I, but the dangers they faced were far greater than the average person encounters. Yet no matter the degree of peril any of us faces, we all in times of trial look to God for strength to endure our troubles. Fear is a great motivator of prayer, but we should not forget that there are also prayers of thankfulness and love when nothing endangers us. Take heart in His care.

Central Lake Lionesses install new officers

At their dinner meeting on June 2, the Central Lake Lionesses installed new officers for the coming year. The speaker for the evening was Judge Norman Hayes and his topic was "Community Mediation Services," a way to solve differences without bringing the case to trial.

Past President Barb Smith presided over the installation ceremony giving a carnation to each officer as they were installed. The new officers are: president, Phyllis Armould; first vice president, Myra John; second vice president, Pat Budzynski; third vice president, Lela Clark; secretary, Marcia Pepke; treasurer, Sylvia Hebden; past president and district representative, Barb Smith; tail twister, Jan Johnson; Lioness tamer, Malinda Lowrance; and membership chairperson, Jean Murray. One year board members are Bev Aspenleiter and Karen Scadin, and two year board members are Kay Ryan and Mae Mohr. Barb Smith will also be serving as the District 11-E-2 Chaplin this year.

Jo's News

Between 25-30 members of Grace Community Church gathered at the home of Lloyd and Ella Burns early last Saturday evening for a potluck dinner and get-together in honor of a belated birthday part for Pastor Estell Clark.

Lloyd and Ella Burns were dinner guests last Sunday of Allan, Susie and Paige Burns in Bay Shore.

Bill & Esther Burch of Clovis, N.M. were guests last week of their granddaughter Kathy Patton and family and Darla Shooks and family. While here, they enjoyed "Christmas in June" on Sunday with a cook-out and gift exchange at the Shooks home.

Mr. and Mrs. David Patton and mother Jo Somerville were guests on Thursday for a cook-out at Brian and Kathy Pattons home, to meet their grandparents Esther and Bill Burch of New Mexico. They enjoyed a boat ride and the pretty flowers. They are leaving for home Wednesday morning.

Marianne Giddings, a former resident, is at her home on East County Road #624 with her daughters Mary Ann Hood of the Washington area and Joanne of California to visit them as they assist with a household sale this weekend. She has an apartment in Lansing presently and is doing well.

Everyone is so busy with yards, flowers and many graduation plans, showers and some weddings. But I hope everyone will notice how nice the yard, sidewalk and flowers look at the Chamber of Commerce building on Main St. The village crew and others have done a super job. Lets all thank them, it was alot of work.

Eunice Empey of Bellaire visited on Thursday with Lodema Springstead. She is much better and is planting flowers.

Lancers halted in Regional Semifinal

Ellsworth, playing without three key baseball members in the regional semifinals, still got a strong game from the remaining members, who gave Leland all it could handle, and in the end fell to the Comets 4-1 in what would be the swan song for Coach Hugh Campbell.

Tim Koivisto pitched hard and kept the Comets off the scoreboard as best he could, holding the score to 1-0 Leland into the fourth. An errant pickoff throw and a wild pitch got Leland the second run.

Ellsworth cut the gap in half in the sixth, Matt Seese cramming a one-out triple to the fence. A two-out fly ball went to right, the fielder dropped the easy fly, and Ellsworth lived on, 2-1.

Leland bounced back, scoring twice in the bottom of the sixth, to take the semifinal, 4-1.

Tim Koivisto ended the season with 11 strikeouts and nine hits allowed. His opposition, Jason Aemmer allowed two hits and struck out 13.

In the final, Leland overwhelmed the Jo-Burg Cardinals 8-0, Corey VanWagner tossing a three-hit shutout for the Comets, who moved on into quarter-final play against Hillman at Grayling Tuesday.

Community foundation grants $11,240 to support local groups

Programs for young children, senior citizens, and just about everybody in-between recently got some financial help from the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. Trustees of the foundation approved grants totaling $11,240 to seven non-profit organizations serving Charlevoix County. The grants were funded with interest earned on the foundation's permanent endowment, now valued at nearly $1.3 million.

Mike Stowe, vice president of the foundation and a member of the committee that reviews grant requests and selects projects to fund, says the group considered applications from 15 different organizations.

"We tried to choose programs that target a variety of social needs and have potential to help a great number of people throughout the county," he explained. "As our foundation grows, we'll be able to expand our grantmaking and have an even greater impact on our communities."

Projects that were chosen to receive community foundation grants include:

- Citizen Dispute Resolution Service, Inc.: $1000 to support alternative methods of conflict resolution by funding special, state-certified programs to train volunteers as mediators. Trained mediators are called upon to negotiate and help resolve issues between disputing parties—saving costly litigation and court time.

- The Castle Farm Project: $5,000 toward the purchase of the historical farm and restoration of its buildings. Once complete, Castle Farm will be used as an area-wide community center that will host family and children's activities, concerts, art fairs and festivals, sporting events, and a variety of enrichment programs.

- Char-Em Housing Coalition: $500 to sponsor the cost of repairing and painting a home in Charlevoix County during the Second Annual Paint Blitz.

- District Health Department #3 - Charlevoix County Multi-Agency Task Force: $1000 for publication and distribution of a special senior citizen resource directory for the providers of care and services for the elderly.

- Charlevoix County MSU Extension Office: $740 to help the Northern Lakes Economic Alliance provide timely information to community leaders and businesses throughout Charlevoix, Antrim and Emmet counties. The grant will be used to purchase special computer software that will supply data to assist those who make decisions about community growth and economic development in our area.

- Raven Hill Discovery Center: $2,000 to equip a new display on the Periodic Table of the Elements at the hands-on science museum. School classes and youth groups from throughout the region come to Raven Hill to learn about wildlife, explore the environment, and get turned on to the wonders of science.

- Volunteers in Probation: $1000 to the Victim Restitution Program to help develop a revolving fund that will reimburse victims of crime.

This is the fourth group of grants made since the foundation began nearly two years ago. Earlier this year the foundation's Youth Advisory Committee made its first grants, totaling $7000, to several area programs aimed at improving and enriching life for young people. Altogether, with grants and scholarships, the foundation has channeled over $50,000 into the community.

"It's exciting to see our money go to work this way," said Robert Tambellini, executive director of the foundation.

"This really is what our community foundation is all about - using income from our pooled resources to meet community needs, now and into the future."

Started in 1992 by a group of civic leaders, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation receives charitable donations from individuals and other private foundations and manages them in permanent.

Income from the endowment is used, in turn, to fund a variety of community projects that support education, the arts, health, social services, recreation, community development, or the special needs of children.

For more information about the Community Foundation, call 616/536-2440, or write c/o P.O. Box 718, East Jordan, Michigan 49727.

■ Albert Miles, Miles District, lost a cow Wednesday.

■ Mr. Wallace Harris of Antrim City went to Homer to get another load of tools and machinery Monday.

■ We hear that a party of Ellsworth gents were over this way (Antrim City) fishing for suckers and one of them got lost. After tramping through wet brush and swamps, he found a farmer's house at daylight and went to bed while the misses dried his clothes. We wonder who.

■ L.B. Canniff was in Ellsworth a few days last week wrecking the south half of the Libby McNeil and Libby Pickle Station.

■ We are glad they are putting Tarvia on M-11 between Atwood and Eastport. It will add greatly to the comfort of touring, as it will not be so dusty.

■ Charles Warner, Atwood, bought a new Ford touring car recently.

■ Supt. Burt left Ellsworth Tuesday for Lansing to take a course at the M.S.C.

The Central Lake Torch

June 15, 1950

■ Maxine Mae Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miller of Peninsula, and Paul B.W. Gelatt, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Gelatt of Central Lake, were united in marriage at the Immanuel Baptist Church Saturday afternoon in a double ring ceremony at which the groom's father officiated.

■ "Independence Day" will be coming a little early in Antrim County this year! Michigan's "duplicate original" Liberty Bell will arrive in the county next Monday from East Jordan. It will be met at the county line by Sheriff Howard Tanner and Eloise Batchelder, recently chosen Miss Bellaire for the Cherry Queen contest at Traverse City.

■ Dayliss Yettaw, Miles District, who recently returned from the hospital, where he was being treated for heart trouble, is slowly improving.

■ Mrs. James Heeres, Ellsworth, was pleasantly surprised last week to receive an overseas telephone call from her son James, in the U.S. Army in Germany advising her that he would spend a furlough in the Netherlands, and expects to visit the birthplace of his father.

■ Twenty-six members of the Central Lake Senior class, accompanied by their class advisor Miss Stites and Superintendent McDaniel, boarded the school bus June 3 to begin their last trip together as a senior class.

■ Rev. Howard Moore, pastor of the East Jordan Methodist Church for the past several years will succeed Rev. Louis O. Ellinger, pastor of Bellaire and Central Lake Methodist Churches.

Challenges on the journey

By Nancy LaCroix

Did you know there is a policy that was established by the federal government concerning the purchasing of durable medical equipment, with Medicare/Medicaid insurance? The purpose of this policy is to regulate and limit the quantity of equipment that can be purchased.

I learned of this policy when I ordered my ostomy supplies one recent day from a company in Traverse City where I have been obtaining my equipment for a number of years. They said I would now have to pay for my supplies myself.

After many inquiries by myself and other interested persons, it was determined that some companies will still honor Medicare/Medicaid and allow a limited supply to be purchased. The limitations placed on the supplies are unrealistic.

For many of us, the equipment affected by this policy is life sustaining.

I've written letters to various local, state and federal government officials concerning this issue; most have not responded. Congressman Bart Stupak is the only exception. I wish to share the information he sent. If you know someone who could benefit by knowledge of this please pass it on.

Stupak referred to the Health Care Financing Administration, which established a national coverage policy. This is what determines what can be purchased by our insurance. He also shared that there is a clause in this policy which enables us to obtain additional and/or other equipment not readily covered by Medicare/Medicaid at this time.

A certificate of medical necessity is required, and can be obtained with a detailed letter and signature from a doctor stating your extraordinary needs and the reason for them. Supposedly, after obtaining this, one would be able to purchase equipment with Medicare/Medicaid.

Doesn't the government know that for many of us who are disabled, life is challenging enough without the concern or the hassle of struggling with bureau-

This all may sound simple enough, but for some like myself, just finding a doctor who will care enough to take the time to write a letter is nearly an insurmountable task. My experiences with doctors and other members of the medical profession and their narrowmindedness in regard to people who are "different" is the basis for a future article.

The Land of the Free and The Home of the Brave . . . all shall have these unalienable rights; life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. This is the morality that our America is based on. I'm sure that when these words were first written they were based on conscionable truths and were believed to be the cornerstone to uphold all else. Something has happened to our cornerstone. It seems to have become a deflated, meaningless, ineffective bunch of nice-sounding words.

Who are the ones who are most affected by this loss of conscionable morality? They are children, the elderly, people such as I who are disabled, and anyone who for whatever reason is considered unworthy of being given a voice in society.

Rabies watch in Antrim County

Dog from local shelter found with disease

A dog adopted from the Antrim County Animal Shelter in May was recently discovered to have rabies.

The dog was part of a litter of that was left in a box along Hejhal Road in Jordan Township. The man who adopted the puppy from the animal shelter drove through northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula to Marinette, Wis., where the disease was discovered.

Dr. Brian Youngs of District Health Department No. 3 said although the other dogs in the litter have since tested negative for the disease, "We still have to assume the infection originated in Antrim County."

The puppy, about nine weeks old, was a black, gray and white spaniel mix.

The man who adopted the dog was driving a dark green 1994 Plymouth Sundance four-door. Anyone who feels they may have come in contact with the infected dog is asked to call the health department at 547-6523.

Rabies is a fatal disease caused by a virus found in the saliva of infected animals.

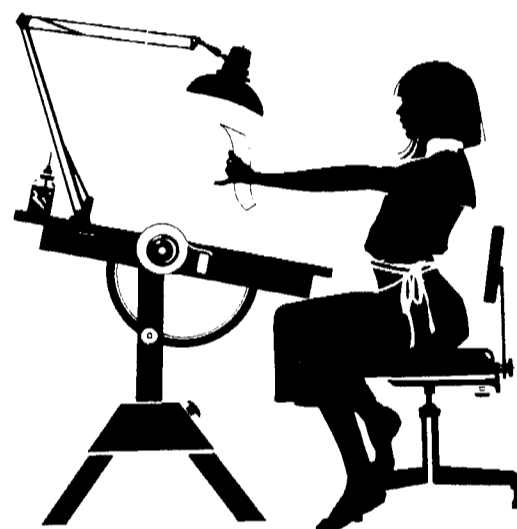

Rabies can be given to people by a bite or scratch, or if saliva or other materials from a rabid animal come into contact with an open wound, abrasion, scratch or the linings of the eyes or mouth.

"People should definitely not handle any stray, injured or sick animals, wild or domestic," Youngs said.

In addition to having pets vaccinated, Youngs said people should not let their pets roam unattended. If anyone feels their pet has been exposed, they should call Antrim County Animal Control at 533-6421.

Youngs asked that anyone who thinks they may have been exposed to rabies wash any wound with soap and water as soon as possible, and seek immediate medical attention.

Weddings with less stress

Already this year our office has been receiving calls and complaints concerning the planning of June and summer weddings. Young couples in the area all want their wedding to go off "without a hitch," and so do we at the BBB! Here are some tips that you should consider to avoid problems with your wedding – or the one you might be helping someone else plan:

- Do your homework. There are many books and bridal magazines with articles that give you checklists and timetables to follow when planning the wedding. Check the local newsstand or library.

- Price isn't the main consideration! Every year we get complaints from brides (and their mothers) frantic over poor services provided by someone hired because he was "cheapest." Naturally you should shop around – but the best advertising is word of mouth from other satisfied customers.

- Get details in writing on exactly what products or services you want. This includes written contracts with the photographer, caterer, reception hall, florist, cake supplier, limousine, music supplier and bridal gown store. Make sure you know each company policy on:

- 1) Cancellation. What happens if plans change? Can you get your deposit back? What are the deadlines or penalties? Do you lose your deposit if you cancel? Many times the special orders for wedding dresses are non-cancelable.

- 2) Changes. What if you want a different package of photographs or change your mind about the colors of the flowers? How far in advance can you make changes? Find out.

- 3) Substitutions. Might your photographer or musical DJ send a substitute? If you want special songs played, have you listed them carefully? Does your caterer spell out every menu selection? Does he supply the chairs? Do you know?

- Try to see their work. Listen to your band or DJ at another function. Insist on seeing photo albums or videotapes they have done for others. Look at their cakes, or flowers, or limousine. No surprises, right?

- Be sure to check their BBB report before you hire them by calling us at 1-774-8230. We can let you know if others have filed complaints. If you have a problem, communicate! Get involved and don't assume everything is OK; insist on meeting with the supplier to obtain written clarification! If you still have problems, write us at: BBB, 620 Trust Bldg., Grand Rapids, Michigan 49503. Our office serves Antrim and Charlevoix counties.

Delivery of Old Number 6

East Jordan's famous #6 was photographed on this day of her arrival, May 3, 1909, from the Pittsburg Works where she had been built only the month before. Clarence W. "Peggy" Bowman poses on the running board while James Howard (left), James McArthur and George Ramsey watch Arthur Farmer wield the oil can. The exact location in East Jordan where the photo was taken is a mystery waiting to be solved.

- Consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages on city property during work hours; during a meal period within work hours; or within five hours preceding any scheduled work assignment

- Consumption of alcohol when being paid or acting on behalf of the city

- Engaging in abuse of legal drugs

All personnel are subject to "reasonable suspicion" testing for alcohol or controlled substances.

"On call" provisions state that immediate supervisors must determine whether employees are fit to perform their duties during "on call" hours. If alcohol has been consumed within five hours of the call, employees are to inform the supervisor who will defer to another employee.

Employees unable to respond to three "on call" work requests within a 30-day period, are subject to disciplinary action.

Grievance procedure outlined

A detailed grievance procedure is included in the policy manual. A grievance is defined as a written dispute or complaint filed personally by the aggrieved worker within five work days of the event or circumstances. The right to file a grievance will expire after that time.

The affected department head has five days to respond in writing to the employee. A copy of that response, as well as the grievance will be sent to the pertinent city council committee. If the department head fails to respond, the grievance is automatically directed to council committee.

If the parties are unable to come to a satisfactory settlement, the aggrieved employee has the right to appeal directly to city council committee, which must investigate the issue. The committee can offer a decision or defer to the full council. The process has strict time limitations and all documentation is placed in the employee's file.

Sexual harassment in any form is prohibited by the policy.

General employment policies

Along with guidelines on general city employment practices, the manual gives specifics on expectations in regard to work attendance, safety, personal appearance, public relations and confidential information learned on the job.

Benefits, including sick leave and retirement are also outlined in the manual. Hourly employees are given five working days of vacation after one year of employment, which increases to 10 days after two years. Salaried employees and department heads earn 10 days vacation after a six-month orientation period.

Holding a successful garage sale

Hundreds of thousands of "garage sales" will be held in the coming months. Many of the people holding these sales don't even have a garage. So the "garage sales" are held in the front yard, back yard, basement, porch, breezeway or any place that merchandise can be displayed and potential customers can be accommodated.

We all know people who can't keep from stopping when they see a sign announcing a "sale." Just a small newspaper ad and some signs on fences and poles will bring you enough customers to make a retail store envious.

Undoubtedly you have already attended one or more garage sales. Many people are "garage sale junkies" who look in the newspaper for ads and visit every one they can locate. This means that advertising is the key to a successful sale. This publication and others have a special classification in their ad columns for garage sale advertising.

Whether you are a novice ready for your first sale or have experience, there are tips that will help you be more successful.

First, you must consider if you are the type of person who can handle meeting strangers and haggling over prices.

Once you have decided to go ahead, you must get your merchandise together, price it, learn how to display and promote the merchandise and advertise.

Almost any kind of articles will sell at a garage sale. You will be amazed at how fast you sell items that were stuffed into your garage and basement as "junk."

After having a garage sale that produced $300 or more from discards, most people are anxious to do it again and again.

Service organizations highlighted at Depot

The Alden Depot Museum is attempting to nudge patrons awareness this summer with a display of the many organizations, past and present, whose hard work and generosity have added safety, beauty and comfort to the area and its citizens.

In the past, the Odd Fellows and the Shriners were the strong organizations. Today, the Lions, the Grange, the Rotary, HONORS, Torch Area Artisans Guild, the volunteer fire departments, Juniper Garden Club, Persons Harbor Womens Club, Grass River Natural Area, Three Lakes Association, the VFW and the AmVets are just some of those who are constantly enhancing the local way of life.

Those who have artifacts, articles or information on an organization to display for the summer may contact Dorothy Walter, 331-6583, or bring them to the Alden Depot Museum on any Thursday from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. The museum is now open on Saturdays and Sundays from 1-4 p.m.
